PROCEEDINGS IN PARLIAMENT.

THE RAMS NOT DETAINED UNDER THREATS.

In the House of Lords on Feb. 15, Earl Russell said: "The noble Earl (the Earl of Derby) put some questions to me the other evening to which I was not at the time prepared to give an answer. He referred to several dispatches and notes of Mr. Adams, and expressed a wish to know how far the conduct of Her Majesty's Government had been influenced by those communications. I have since been looking to the dates, and so far from the conduct of Her Majesty's Government being influenced by the notes of Mr. Adams of the 4th or 5th September, which did not reach me until a day or two later, I find that on the 3d of September the decision was taken to detain and prevent the departure of the iron-clads from Birkenhead. On that day Mr. Layard wrote to the Treasury desiring that they should be stopped. On referring to private letters of my own I find that I wrote from Scotland to Lord Palmerston on the 3d of September:

'The conduct of the gentlemen who have contracted for the iron-clads at Birkenhead is so very suspicious that I have thought it necessary to direct that they should be detained.'

And on the 4th of September I wrote to the noble Lord:

'The pressing matter, however, is that of the iron-clad rams. I have desired that they should not be allowed to leave the port of Liverpool.'

It is therefore impossible that the course then pursued could be influenced by letters written by Mr. Adams on the 4th and subsequent days. With regard to the language used in the correspondence between Mr. Adams and myself with respect to these vessels, I do not mean to say that if the language had been more intemperate I should at all have desisted from the course which I took. As soon as I had come to the conviction that the iron-clads were intended for the Confederates, it appeared to me my duty to take steps to detain them until we could obtain full evidence of their destination. I am quite of the opinion of Mr. Canning, that whatever we do we ought not to sneak into a war, and I thought it my duty to detain the iron-clads, believing that they were intended to depart from this country for the purpose of carrying on war against the United States. The noble Lord went much into the question as to what it was my duty to represent to the United States Government; and although he has not directly charged me, he has insinuated that I failed to notice Mr. Adams' language. In answer to that, I beg leave to read from the papers presented to Congress, which will show the tone of the correspondence."

Earl Russell then read extracts from his dispatch dated Sept. 16, and from Mr. Adams' reply dated Sept. 29, 1863, as published in the diplomatic correspondence, and said:

"I will not quote any more, but there was afterward a dispatch to Mr. Stuart expressing a hope that the relations of the two Governments might be carried on with good will on both sides without any misinterpretation of each other's intentions. I consider, therefore, that if there had been any intimation of a threat, that threat was entirely withdrawn—[hear, hear]—and that the assurances given to us by the Government of the United States were that they wished to maintain the most friendly relations." [Hear, hear.]

Earl Derby again took the floor, and after a few remarks in reply to Earl Russell, said:

"There is another question which I would like to ask. Has the noble Earl asked the Government of the United States for any explanation to the extraordinary fact that that dispatch from Mr. Seward to Mr. Adams which was never submitted to the noble Earl, was laid before Congress as having been presented, the American people being thus led to believe that it had been presented and received by the noble Earl, and that it exercised considerable influence over our Government in their determination. When the noble Earl saw this correspondence, he cannot but have asked for some explanation of the fact that a dispatch never delivered was actually produced before Congress as a part of a diplomatic correspondence." [Hear, hear.]

Earl Russell—Having heard the noble Earl say that the dispatches laid before Congress were contained in a bulky volume, I concluded, perhaps somewhat too hastily, that he had read it. If he did not, of course what I said entirely falls to the ground, and must be withdrawn. [Hear, hear.] As to the last question of the noble Earl, I think it more affects the conduct of the United States Government toward their own people than their conduct toward us. It is the habit—and the wise habit, I think—of Mr. Adams to weigh over the dispatches which he receives, and when they contain complaints to consider how he can most effectually urge these complaints, and to endeavor to perform his duty in the most conciliatory spirit possible. [Hear, hear.] I can only say that Mr. Adams has pursued that course from the first. Almost the first time I saw him he told me that he had several dispatches couched in strong terms, but he did not think it discreet to read them to me, and he then went on to describe in his own language what the complaints of his Government were. I think the conduct of Mr. Adams calculated to maintain friendly relations between the two Governments. I certainly, at present, don't see the necessity for asking Lord Lyons to call Mr. Seward's attention to the presentation of this dispatch to Congress. No doubt, a certain effect may be produced by the publication of that dispatch, especially when it is discovered that it never was presented.

The Earl of Derby—I never threw out the slightest imputation against Mr. Adams; on the contrary, I said that he had throughout exercised a wise discretion, and shown himself the friend of the two countries. The noble Earl surprised me by saying that Mr. Adams had communicated to him the substance of this dispatch.

Earl Russell—No; what I said was, that it was Mr. Adams' habit, when there was any substantial grievance to complain of, to communicate to me his views of the dispatch. [Hear.]

The Earl of Derby—The noble Earl has not told us how it happened that having come to the decision on the 3d to stop the steam rams, he wrote on the 4th to say that the matter was under due consideration.

Earl Russell—The matter was still under correspondence at the time. Mr. Layard had written a letter to the Treasury, and the matter was under consideration still in the Treasury, and we had to wait for their answer. I being in Scotland at the time, my letter, I suppose, would not reach Mr. Adams until a day or two after. When the matter was under consideration between the two departments, we did not think it necessary to tell the parties that it was determined.

THE CRUISER AT LIVERPOOL.

In the House of Commons on the same day, Mr. Gregory asked the Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, having reference to a rumor prevalent at Liverpool, and he did so for the sake of those who believed that rumor, not on his own account, for he entirely disbelieved it. The rumor was that vessels, or a vessel, of superior strength and speed, were being fitted out at Liverpool, or some other English port, with the intention of pursuing and capturing the Alabama, inasmuch as the Federals were unable to do it themselves. He wished to know whether any information on that head had reached the honorable gentleman, and whether he would apply the same vigilance [cheers] to the prevention of acts of hostility toward a friendly nation to which we had granted belligerent rights as he had shown in dealing with vessels suspected of being fitted out with designs hostile to the Federal States.

Mr. Layard, in answer to the first question, said the only information he possessed was derived from the newspapers, and one of these suggested that the whole paragraph might be a wily contrivance on the part of the Confederates. If so, his honorable friend would know more about it than the Government. [A laugh.] The law, of course, would be applied impartially to either side.

IMPROVEMENTS IN ARTILLERY.

Mr. W. Ewart asked the Under Secretary of State for War whether any British officers had been sent to study and report upon the recent applications of, and improvements in, artillery adopted in the war in the United States and in Denmark.

The Marquis of Hartington stated that since the commencement of the war with the United States the War Office had received from Lord Lyons frequent reports as to the progress of science applied to artillery, of all experiments, and of all new guns manufactured by the Government of the United States. Within a short time, however, it had been found that Lord Lyons was not able to supply that department with such correct detailed information as appeared to be necessary, and three officers were sent out for the purpose of investigating and reporting to the War Office, in the fullest manner possible, all the improvements and alterations which had taken place in artillery science in the United States. In September, 1862, a commission, of which Sir J. Mitchel was the President, visited Denmark, and reported upon the state of its defences, and of the artillery in its possession. It had not been thought necessary to send any commissioners since the breaking out of the present war, either to the Danish, the Prussian or other armies.

COMPENSATION.

In the House of Commons, Monday, Feb. 15, Mr. Peacock gave notice that on the 26th he should call attention to the demand for compensation made by the United States, in consequence of the seizure of their vessels by Confederate cruisers.

CLAIMS BY BRITISH SUBJECTS—DAMAGE DONE BY THE ALABAMA.

In the House of Lords, on Feb. 16, Lord Carnarvon moved for a return of claims by British subjects upon the United States Government since the secession of the Southern States. He also asked for further information as to claims made by the United States' Government on the Government of Great Britain for damages to American ships by the Alabama and other Confederate cruisers. He repeated the details of several cases in which English vessels had been captured, especially that of the Saxon, and the circumstances under which the chief mate of that ship was killed by the Federal Lieutenant in command of the party by which she was boarded. If the incident had been correctly described, a most barbarous murder had been committed. He read passages from the correspondence of Mr. Adams referring to the capture by the Alabama, and censured an admission made by Lord Russell that he should be ready to enter into a calm consideration of the facts and principles involved in similar cases. The Federal Government Lord Carnarvon contended, would take only one view of these captures. He calculated the amount of claims likely to be made on the English Government under this head at £2,500,000. Unfortunately, the Federal Government had so lent itself to the cry for compensation by England, that, even if disposed, it would hardly be able to resist the feeling it had excited. To hold out vain and visionary hopes in reference to this question was useless, and he impressed on the noble Lord the necessity of settling it as soon as possible.

During the delivery of this speech the following passage transpired. Lord Carnarvon said:

It appeared to me that from the first the noble Earl had distinctly declined all responsibility connected with the building of the Alabama, and with the depredations which she was supposed to have committed. Nothing can be plainer and more complete in every way than the noble Earl's language; but after all this the noble Earl ends by accepting the proposal for an arbitrament.

Earl Russell—No.

The Earl of Carnarvon—At a future period?

Earl Russell (emphatically)—No.

The Earl of Carnarvon.—The noble Earl says "no;" but, on reading the dispatch from which I have just quoted, can any one come to any other conclusion than that the noble Earl did accede to the proposal for arbitration at a future period? Mr. Adams asks for arbitration, and the noble Earl says:—

"With this declaration, Her Majesty's Government may well be content to await the time when a calm and candid examination of the facts and principles involved in the case of the Alabama may, in the opinion of the Government of the United States, usefully be undertaken."

Earl Russell—The noble Earl seems to suppose that I shall have no difficulty in granting the first part of his motion, relating to the returns of vessels. Now, so far as Her Majesty's Government are concerned, there will be very little difficulty in giving any information that is asked for as to representations which have taken place on the part of the Government; but when I consider the public utility to be served by this motion, I cannot encourage the noble Lord to press it. The fact is, that these dispatches upon cases arising from time to time, and almost from day to day, become formidable in point of extent. I saw in the Foreign Office to-day a volume, not indeed a very thick one, but one of several folio volumes, many of them exceedingly thick, which are said to contain about half of the returns which the noble Earl moves for. Now, I ask, what would be the advantage of producing—what would be the advantage of printing for this House, such a voluminous return of cases that have arisen between this country and the United States? I am quite sure that my noble friend would hardly think of pressing a motion of such a character. And if there is no advantage in it, there may be some disadvantage; because if hereafter there were to be any commission on these claims, the American Government would probably take the evidence which had been laid before Parliament as complete with respect to them. They would say, "There is your case. It has been laid before the Foreign Office; it has been presented to Parliament and printed, and it is impossible to go beyond it." If, therefore, these cases were printed, and a commission on claims were hereafter appointed, persons who had claims, and who were prepared to produce further evidence in support of them, might be precluded from the full benefit of that evidence. I cannot, therefore, think that there would be any advantage in producing this voluminous mass of papers. The noble Earl seemed to think that our commerce was nearly extinct. [The Earl of Carnarvon dissented.] I took down the noble Earl's words, and he certainly said that our commerce on the Southern coast of America was on the verge of extinction. Now, to what do these words apply? It is known that this trade of blockade-running has been a most profitable trade, that great fortunes have been made by many persons in carrying it on, and that Nassau and some other places have swarmed with vessels which had never previously been seen in those ports. That a great number of vessels have been stopped by the American cruisers, I readily admit. The noble Earl says that the Judges of the Prize Courts in the United States have given decisions, some of which are not based upon principles of international law. Now, I say here what I have frequently had occasion to say before, that we are bound in the first instance to accept these decisions, and I think the complaints which have been made vere often arise, and naturally arise, from ignorancy of the principles of international law, as laid down by Lord Stowell and other great jurists in this country. It has been many times complained of that a vessel bound from this country to Nassau should be captured on her voyage while upon the high seas, and should be sent for adjudication before an American Prize Court. Evidently the persons who make that complaint think it quite sufficient if the nominal destination was Nassau, and do not take into consideration the circumstance that if Nassau was not the ultimate destination, but it was merely meant that the vessel should touch at Nassau, and then, without transhipment, carry her cargo into the blockaded port, that vessel, according to the principles laid down by Lord Stowell, would be liable to capture. But it is natural that this should be forgotten when for so many years these belligerent rights have been in abeyance, and the result is that many of the persons who have employed their capital in this manner are severe sufferers. With regard to the Saxon, we were advised that that vessel was taken not in British, but in foreign waters. The noble Earl says that the law officers of the Crown must have been completely wrong, because it was quite sufficient if the Governor of the Cape had declared the island of Angra Pequena to be a British possession. Now, I do not think that we should be guided by such a declaration in an analogous case. Suppose that on the coast of Africa a slaver was taken by one of our cruisers near an island, it would not be sufficient to prevent the capture by the statement that the Governor of the neighboring French or Portuguese settlement had declared that island to belong to France or Portugal. We should say at once—"Have the French and Portuguese Governments confirmed that declaration?" and if they had not we should hesitate to acknowledge that the island belonged to either country. The argument which we should use ourselves we ought to accept from another nation; and acting, therefore, on the opinion of the law officers of the Crown, I did not assert that this vessel had been wrongfully captured. What was affirmed by the American captors was that the Saxon had received from the Alabama and the Tuscaloosa part of the spoil which they had taken from American vessels. The noble Earl refers to what appears to us, if the information we have received be accurate, to be the wanton and barbarous murder of the mate of the Saxon. All that we could ask in such a case was that the person accused of that crime should be tried and should be brought as soon as possible before a tribunal in which the charge could be fairly examined into. That, accordingly, is the demand which we made. The noble Earl says it was no satisfaction that the Captain of the Vanderbilt expressed his regret. But I do not know what more he could do. He did not order that the mate of the Saxon should be killed. He had no concern in the murder, but when he heard of the occurrence, he expressed his regret. He could not immediately order a trial and have the man convicted and executed.

The Earl of Carnarvon—Did the Captain order the man under arrest? [Hear, hear.]

Earl Russell—That is a point upon which we have no information. [Opposition cheers.] But certainly I do not think it an injury that the Captain expressed his regret at the occurrence. I believe it is stated in the newspapers that the man was afterwards put under arrest; but that is only a newspaper report. With regard to the Tuscaloosa, that vessel was captured by and was a prize to the Alabama. The law officers gave it as their opinion that she should have been detained, and orders were sent out in conformity with that opinion. She has now been detained, and it will be for the noble Earl to show that the law officers were wrong in that opinion, and that upon grounds of public law known to himself Her Majesty's Government should have taken another course. I now come to the noble Earl's statement with regard to the Alabama, and I cannot say how much I feel indebted to him for enabling me to clear up a misconception which, as it has affected his mind, may also have affected others in the same way. My Lords, Her Majesty's Government have always maintained that they were in no way responsible for the hostilities against the merchant ships of the United States committed by the Alabama. [Hear, hear.] We have maintained that position from the beginning; we shall maintain it to the end. The noble Earl seems to suppose that in a letter of mine of the 26th of October I admitted that these questions would afterward be referred to a commission. My Lords, I admitted nothing of the kind. [Hear, hear.] I stated then, as I have always stated, that Her Majesty's Government was not responsible for the acts of the Alabama. The United States Minister may have in view some kind of commission or arbitration; but Her Majesty's Government have never consented, and never would consent, to a commission or arbitration. [Hear, hear.] According to all the principles of international law, Her Majesty's Government are in no way responsible for the doings of the vessel referred to. There has been a question of a commission, but we have always thought that a commission would be of no use, because the United States Government would be sure to propose that the case of the Alabama should be referred to the commission and it is quite impossible that we could consent to that. Therefore we have never proposed what under ordinary circumstances would be a proper course—we have never proposed a commission to consider the respective claims of the subjects of each country, and which the United States Government hinted they were ready to agree to, because we knew that it would be proposed to include the case of the Alabama, which we were determined not to consent to. [Hear, hear.] I say, therefore, the Government may well await the time when a calm consideration of the principles involved in the case of the Alabama can be given. Every one is aware that for a long time there has been great excitement in America upon the subject of the Alabama; that she has been called a British pirate, and the American nation has been roused to anger against this country for the doings of the Alabama. I say that when the United States Government say they do not wish to press that question further now, it is fair to believe that a time may come when the United States Government, considering all the precedents laid down by their own Judges as well as by British Judges, will be satisfied that they have no claim against this country on account of the Alabama. My expression was not intended to convey the notion that the British Government would change their minds, but that the United States Government would change theirs when the excitement of the moment had passed away. Therefore I go on to say:

"The British Government must decline to be responsible for the acts of parties who fit out a seeming merchant ship, send her to a port or to waters far from the jurisdiction of British courts, and there commission, equip, and man her as a vessel-of-war." And I further say that if "an admitted principle was thus made elastic to meet a particular case, the trade of shipbuilding in this country would be seriously embarrassed." The noble Earl, in a manner unaccountable to me, for it never, from the time I wrote that letter until now, occurred to me that such a meaning could be applied to it, and that it could be understood as admitting a future examination of this case—the noble Earl says it is desirable that these cases should not be kept open, but that they should be settled at once. I quite agree with him if there is any amicable way in which they can be settled. The American Government says: "We have a clear and undoubted case for reparation on account of the Alabama." We say: "We have a clear and undoubted case for refusing reparation in the case of the Alabama." Who is to be the arbitrator unless we resort to that method of arbitration which the noble Earl thinks I agree to? In no way can this question be settled unless the United States should push us to the verge of war for the purpose of getting this question settled. The United States Government say, "We have a good case, but we are ready to keep it in abeyance, and to continue on terms of amity and friendly relations with Great Britain if Great Britain will consent to do so." Am I to say, "We will not agree to anything of the sort? Why do you not make war upon us? Why not push your claims to the utmost extremity?" That is the case of the noble Earl. He says it is desirable to have these questions settled, and not to have them hanging over us. It is desirable, indeed; but how is it to be done while the positions of the two countries are so entirely opposed? I have had the good fortune, in some cases, to put an end to matters which had long been causes of dispute between this country and the United States. For many years there was a dispute pending upon the question of the Musquito Shore and of the Bay Island. The President of the United States said at the time, "If this be the only question of difference"—as I believe it was until the secession occurred—"if this be the only question of difference we have with the Government of Great Britain, let us endeavor to settle it." I, for my part, was quite ready to make concessions for what might be considered fair claims on the part of the British Government, in order to settle the dispute, and happily I was enabled to make a treaty which put an end to that dispute. There was another question which arose since the Ashburton Treaty, and which went on for some years, respecting the Hudson's Bay Company, and that dispute it was agreed to refer to arbitration, and a convention has been made for that purpose. So I am by no means indisposed to settle these questions, which, as the noble Earl truly says, ought to be settled if they can be settled. There is also the question of the Island of San Juan, adjoining Vancouver's Island, and in that question also I proposed an arbitration, which proposal has been for some time under the consideration of the United States Government. That Government thought the Senate could not agree to arbitration, but I trust there will be an agreement upon that question also. I think it would be much better that the question relating to the Island of San Juan should be decided by an arbitrator than that it should remain a cause of dispute between the two countries. Referring again to the Alabama, the noble Earl seems to be much shocked because I said that that case was a scandal, and in some degree a reproach upon British law. I say that here, as I said it in that dispatch. [Hear, hear.] I do consider that having passed a law to prevent the enlistment of Her Majesty's subjects in the service of a foreign Power, to prevent the fitting out or equipping, within Her Majesty's dominions, of vessels for warlike purposes without Her Majesty's sanction. I say that, having passed such a law in the year 1819, it is a scandal and a reproach that one of the belligerents in this American contest has been enabled, at the order of the Confederate Government, to fit out a vessel at Liverpool in such a way that she was capable of being made a vessel of war; that, after going to another port in Her Majesty's dominions to ship a portion of her crew, she proceeded to a port in neutral territory, and there completed her crew and equipment as a vessel of war, so that she has since been able to capture and destroy innocent merchant-vessels belonging to the other belligerent. [Hear.] Having been thus equipped by an evasion of the law, I say it is a scandal to our law that we should not be able to prevent such belligerent operations. [Hear, hear.] I venture to say so much, because at the Foreign Office I feel this to be very inconvenient. If you choose to say, as you might have said in former times, "Let vessels be fitted out and sold; let a vessel go to Charleston and there be sold to any agent of the Confederate Government," I could understand such a state of things. But if we have a law to prevent the fitting out of warlike vessels without the license of Her Majesty, I do say this case of the Alabama is a scandal and a reproach. A very learned Judge has said that we might drive, not a coach and six, but a whole fleet of ships, through that act of Parliament. If that be a correct description of our law, then I say we ought to have the law made more clear and intelligible. This law was said to be passed to secure the peace and welfare of this nation, and I trust it may be found in the end sufficient for that purpose. I say, however, that while the law remains in its present state its purpose is obviously defeated, and its enactments made of no effect by British subjects who defy the Queen's proclamation of neutrality. To these observations I will only add that if the noble Earl wishes for any other paper relating to the Alabama—there is only one—I should be willing to give it, but as to the folio volume of papers to which I have before referred, I hope the noble Earl will not press for their production.

Lord Carnarvon did not press the whole return he had moved for, but asked for the papers connected with the most important of the English cases—that of the Saxon.

After a short conversation, the return thus amended was agreed to; and

THE DANO-GERMAN QUESTION.

In the House, on Feb. 15, Lord Campbell called the attention of the House to the treaties and conventions in which the possession of Schleswig had been guaranteed to Denmark by Great Britain. He contended that as the guarantees had never been forfeited by any act of wrong done by Denmark, they were still binding on England.

Lord Russell did not wish to continue a discussion on this subject. The most recent declarations of Prussia and Austria proved that those Powers did not contemplate a dismemberment of Denmark. He declined to state a positive opinion as to the guarantees and thought every means should be used to obtain a pacific settlement of the disputes, rather than resort to anything in the nature of a threat.

CONTINENTAL NEWS.

THE WAR IN DENMARK.

PROGRESS OF THE STRUGGLE.

A telegram from Sonderburg of Feb. 12, says: "All is quiet at the outposts. At Tonning, Tondern, and other places unoccupied by the Germans, the revolutionary party rose against the Danish Government and expelled its officials. At Eckernforde the Prussians have allowed the proclamation of the Prince of Augustenburg."

The Faedrelandet of Feb. 12, says:

"The enemy has halted near Flensburg, and has not continued its advance. Loyal Schleswigers are still expelled by the people, partly from the concurrence of the Prussians. The German reports of the engagements near Oversee and Bilskaw entirely misrepresent the facts. The Danes had only two regiments reduced in strength, amounting in all to 3,000. No fighting took place in the streets of Flensburg.

We (Faedralandet) state on good authority, that the rumors of an armistice, and the opening of negotiations are untrue. It is said to have been resolved, at a sitting of the Privy Council to devote the whole strength of the nation to the recovery of Schleswig. The enemy is in Hadersleben.

The Berlin Neue Preussische Zeitung says: "The expectation we expressed that the proposition of England, France, Russia and Sweden for an armistice, leaving Alsen to the Danes, would not find acceptance here, is confirmed."

A telegram from Flensburg, of Feb. 13, says:—"Duke Frederick has been proclaimed at Tondern, and the Danish officials have been expelled. Small outpost skirmishes have taken place. The Danes have dismissed 100 Frieslanders from their army, and it is said that they will also send away the Schleswig-Holsteiners. The Danish army is reported to be greatly exhausted and suffering. The Chief of Police at Flensburg has been replaced by a Prussian officer. Large numbers of troops continue to pass through the town. Prussian pontoons have also been sent forward. The Austrians are now being held more in reserve."

The Dresdener Journal, of Feb. 13, says: "A telegram from Altona of Feb. 14 states upon good authority that an order to suspend the occupation of several Holstein towns by the Prussians was forwarded from Berlin, but arrived too late to be of use. The Second Prussian Battalion, which moved into the town, will probably march further. Three battalions of Prussians are still at Hamburg."

Le France says: "Prussians assert that an assault upon Duppel would cost too great a sacrifice of life. Mortars are therefore being placed in position to shell the Danes from their intrenchments."

The Patrie asserts that Austria was willing to accept the armistice upon condition of the Danes evacuating Duppel and Alsen. Prussia refused plainly and categorically.

A telegram from Stettin, of Feb. 13, says: "Advices received here from the Prussian Consulate-General in Copenhagen state that, by order of the Foreign Minister, the ships upon which embargo has been laid shall be considered free for six weeks, calculated from the 1st. Prussian light cavalry have been dispatched along the Pomeranian coasts to watch the seaboard and give notice of hostile approach. The signal lights in the light-houses have been extinguished to mislead the Danish ships. One light, only known to the natives of the country, is still kept up."

A dispatch from Hamburg, of Feb. 14, says: "The ice is fast breaking up. Advices from Holstein state that the Prussians occupied Friedericksort on Feb. 13, at the entrance to Kiel Bay. Two Prussian battalions will move into Kiel on the 15th."

A dispatch from Flensburg, of Feb. 15, says: "The Danish gunboat Husby has fired upon an unfinished Prussian land battery. Six 12-pounders were, however, placed in position and fired into the Husby, which ultimately withdrew."

The Duke Augustenburg has been proclaimed at Apenrade. An Austrian pontoon bridge, the Prussian guard and a hussar regiment passed through Flensburg, on the 15th, on the direct road to Duppel. A Prussian battery of heavy artillery has gone to Glucksburg, and is probably destined for Holnes, from which place the harbor of Flensburg and the intrenchments of Duppel can be bombarded.

THE AUSTRIAN REICHSRATH.

In the Vienna Reichsrath on Feb. 13, a debate took place on the credit demanded by the Government to cover the Federal execution expenses. Cardinal Rauscher and Count Hartig advocated the maintenance of the London Protocol. Count Rechsberg asserted that the credit already granted would suffice, as nothing more was to be apprehended in Schleswig from the enemy. The Lower House at its last sitting consented that 40,000,000 florins should be provided by loan toward the expenses of 1864.

SPEECH OF THE EMPEROR.

The session was closed on the 15th by the Emperor in person. He said:

I have neglected nothing in order to maintain peace. The mission of Austria is to be strong against any attack but to raise the voice of peace in the Council of Nations. Our friendly relations with the Great Powers of Europe promise the complete attainment of this object. The crisis which for years threatened to occur between Germany and Denmark has resulted in war, notwithstanding the endeavors of my Government to exercise a conciliatory influence.

In conformity with the vote of the Federal Diet, I have, as a German Prince, taken part in the Federal execution, and in concert with the King of Prussia, the Duchy of Schleswig has been occupied as a pledge. I confidently hope that the results achieved will secure a happy future to countries the rights of which have long been violated, and will not endanger the peace of Europe in a more extended sphere. Austria has shown that in her rejuvenated form she preserves her good old spirit, and that the inheritance of her strength and glory abides with her on the new path of liberty which she has entered.

THE FEDERAL DIET.

At the sitting of the Diet on Feb. 13, the Oldenburg representative brought in a motion referring to the march of Prussian troops through Lubeck, in spite of the protest of the authorities. The motion will be debated at the next sitting. Protests were handed in by various members against the occupation of Altona by the Prussians.

The Saxon representative complained that the measures adopted were in direct contradiction to the express promises of Austria and Prussia. He moved that these promises should be fulfilled, the authority of the Confederation be secured, and that the Austrian and Prussian reserves which had left the Army of Execution, should be replaced by the Federal troops.

The Austrian and Prussian representatives declared that the promises made should in no way be infringed by the Prussian occupation. The explanations of Austria and Prussia upon the subject, the protests referring thereto, and a motion of Saxony on the matter were referred to the united committees upon the affairs of Holstein.

CONFERENCE OF MINISTERS AT WURZBURG.

The conference of the German Ministers summoned by Bavaria will be opened at Wurzburg on the 17th. The Kingdoms of Saxony, Hanover, Wurtemburg and Bavaria, the two Hesses, and Baden will be represented.

The programme to be adopted includes decision upon common action in the two following cases: 1. Provided, the reception of the Duke of Augustenburg's representative at the Diet should encounter obstacles from members of the Confederation. 2. Provided, the occupation of Schleswig by the great German Powers should not effect the separation of that province from Denmark.

The Bavarian Government further desires, though with no prospect of success, to arrange a mutual obligation to recognise the Duke of Augustenburg.

THE AUSTRO-PRUSSIAN PROGRAMME.

The Paris Memorial Diplomatique says that Austria and Prussia, "who have assumed the part of mediators between the Germanic Diet and Denmark," are likely to propose an arrangement, when Schleswig is cleared of the Danes, upon the following bases:

1. Confirmation in principle of the territorial integrity of Denmark.

2. The Holstein question to be decided exclusively by the Diet.

3. In deciding the future of Schleswig the constitutional and succession questions to be kept distinct—the first being treated as a purely German matter; the second examined by a conference of the signatories of the London treaty, with a representative of the Confederation. The guarantees claimed to prevent future incorporation of Schleswig with Denmark will be personal union, like that of Sweden and Norway. community of administration, and perhaps, representation.

4. The Augustenburg princes to obtain formal confirmation of their eventual rights upon the extinction of the Glucksburg line.

Advices from Flensburg, of Saturday, state that the whole of Schleswig, except Sundervitt and Alsen, has been evacuated by the Danes.

THE DANISH FRIGATE.

Plymouth, Wednesday, Feb. 17.

This morning the Danish frigate Neil-Zuil (46) was seven miles beyond the breakwater, under steam and canvas, steering due south; wind north, with a fresh breeze. Her coal bunks have been replenished.

Capt. Gotleitt, on application being made to him, candidly announced his intention to seize the Austrian brigs Milost and Budua (now here) if he caught them three miles outside the English coast Besides the Austrians there are two Bremen barks and one Prussian bark in harbor.

The proceedings of the frigate excite great interest here.

A Plymouth branch pilot has been engaged on board for a short service (nominally between the Lizard and Portsmouth).

The course of the frigate will take her—say twenty miles southwest of the Eddystone, where she will be in the fairway, track of all merchant vessels going up and down the channel, but a continuation of this course will take her near Brest, where there is the Prussian frigate Thetis (formerly English), an encounter with which the Danish officers have been constantly referring to since their arrival in Plymouth on Sunday.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC

Active Operations of Our Cavalry.

Lee's Communication With Richmond Severed.

Hampton's Legion Badly Whipped, With the Loss of Many Prisoners.

Kilpatrick and Custer on Both Flanks of the Enemy.

Spottsylvania and Madison Court-house in our Possession.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE N. Y. TIMES.

Washington, Tuesday, March 1.

The latest information received here from the Army of the Potomac is up to nine o'clock this morning. Heavy musketry, carbine probably, firing was heard early this morning off to the extreme right, in the direction of Stannardsville, where it was supposed that Custer's cavalry were engaging the rebels. Madison Court-house as well as Spottsylvania Court-house are in our possession. There is an evident disposition on the part of Lee to avoid a battle, by keeping behind his intrenchments. Kilpatrick has been heard from. The report is favorable. Lee's communications no longer remain unbroken. It was reported to-day at Culpepper that Hampton's Legion had been badly whipped by Kilpatrick, with a loss of several hundred prisoners—Hampton himself among the number.

THE WAR IN THE SOUTHWEST.

Gen. Smith's Cavalry Expedition—Further Details of its March—Large Arrivals of Cotton.

Cairo, Tuesday, March 1.

Gen. W. L. Smith, in command of the recent cavalry expedition, arrived here to-day. The expedition was 10,000 strong. Its object was to clear the country of straggling forces, and, if possible, make a diversion in favor of Sherman, and join him, if practicable.

REPORTS FROM MEMPHIS.

Memphis, Saturday, Feb. 27.

The diary of an officer attached to Gen. Grierson's column, of Gen. Smith's cavalry expedition, furnishes little information of importance beyond what has been previously reported. Our loss in the attack on the enemy at West Point was forty killed and wounded. We drove the rebels and destroyed a number of cars and culverts, the depot, several miles of railroad track, and a large amount of corn and cotton.

In the attack by Forrest upon our rear at Okolona, the Third Tennessee Cavalry broke at the first fire, running six of our small guns into a ditch. The guns were spiked and their carriages broken. In this fight our loss was about 100, who were nearly all taken prisoners.

Gen. Buckland, commanding the District of the Mississippi, has issued an order requiring all the male residents of Memphis between the ages of 18 and 50, who do not already belong to authorized companies of enrolled militia, to report in person to headquarters within five days from the date of said order; and all persons of the above class who may hereafter arrive in the city are ordered to report at headquarters within ten days after arrival.

The steamers Gen. Grant and Glendale have arrived with 800 bales of cotton for Cincinnati, and the naval steamer New National brought up 50 bales of confiscated cotton. The steamer Ilian brought 377 bales of cotton from Duvall's Bluff to Memphis.

The steamer Lillie Martin had loaded with 500 bales of cotton on the Arkansas River, but was obliged to discharge it, the boat being required for Government service.

Our total loss during the expedition was about 150. The column burned about 3,000 bales of Confederate cotton and over a million bushels of corn, and captured over 100 prisoners, 1,000 mules, and a multitude of negroes.

So large a portion of our force was required to guard the trains, captured property and negroes, that we were greatly outnumbered at Okolona by Forrest, whose effective force was over 5,000 strong.

Cotton Market.—Cotton dull and lower. Good Middlings, 61c.@63c.; strictly middling, 60c.

JAS. B. FRY,
Provost-Marshal-General.

The quota of New-York is 15,979. The number of men enlisted to the 29th of February, and to be credited is 10,163. This makes the deficiency of the City at that date, 5,816.

A Serious Wrong to the Soldiers.

A serious evil is being committed by numerous towns and counties about New-York, in offering great inducements to bounty brokers, and little or no inducement to recruits. It is done in this way. A town meeting is held, at which the tax-payers raise a certain amount to pay each recruit $300. This is placed in the hands of a committee, and they, to expedite matters and save trouble, make a contract with some man to procure for them the number of recruits they need, binding him to pay each recruit at least $100, but leaving it optional with him whether or no he gives the recruit any more. This is, of course, a great inducement for bounty brokers to send recruits to these places, and very many ignorant men are so enlisted; they receive their $100, and are satisfied until they reach Riker's Island or some other military depot and learn how they have been wronged. Gen. DIX's office is completely overrun with these poor fellows, many of whom have families dependent upon them, asking him to get for them the $200 to which they are justly entitled; he is, however, obliged to inform them that he can do nothing for them. The agreement entered into between the town or county and the broker rendering it impossible. West Farms, Richmond County, S. I., and many other towns and counties have made such contracts. It seems a shame that the recruit who leaves his family to serve his country should have but $100 or $150 to leave with his wife and little ones, and brave the chances of death, which, in many cases, would leave them entirely helpless, while the bounty broker who remains at home at his ease gets $150 or $200 for swindling him. It is also a false idea that such inducements to brokers help recruiting, as the experience of this City well shows; for since the swindling recruits has been diminished they come in nearly twice as fast as they did when it was in full feather.

Another Veteran Brigade Returned.

On Monday morning about 11 o'clock, Gen. LEDLIE's Brigade arrived in this City and quartered in the Park Barracks. They came from Fortress Monroe on the steamers Prometheus, Cambria and New-Jersey, and are a fine, hardy looking set of men. They were with Gen. MCCLELLAN on the Peninsula, and have been in nearly all the battles of the Army of the Potomac. The brigade is composed of the Eighty-first, Ninety-sixth and Ninety-eighth Regiments New-York Volunteers. The Eighty-first Regiment is commanded by Col. JACOB J. DE FORREST. They went into the field, two years ago, 1,050 strong, and return with but 370, all of whom have reenlisted. The gallant Colonel has been with the regiment since its formation; he enrolled the first and the last man, and was desperately wounded at Seven Pines.

The officers of the regiment are: Col. Jacob J. De Forrest, Lieut.-Col. John B. Raulston, Maj. David B. White, Surgeon Wm. H. Rice, Quartermaster B. S. De Forrest, Adjt. J. E. Mallette, Capts. E. A. Fist, M. J. De Forrest, B. W. Richardson, Daniel C. Rix, J. T. De Forrest, W. W. Ballard, James Martin and Acting-Capt. Seward Zimmerman. The Ninety-sixth Regiment commanded by Col. E. M. COLLUM, return with but 275 men. This regiment went into the field under command of the late Col. CHARLES O. GRAY, one of the most brave and worthy officers this war has yet produced. He met his death at the head of his regiment, while gallantly leading the charge at the battle of Kinton, North Carolina. The regiment bring back with them an old battle-worn flag, which their Colonel had presented to them, and which he was himself bearing onward when he was shot down. Major KELLEY, another brave and gallant officer of this regiment, was killed at Fair Oaks. The officers of the regiment now are: Col. E. M. Collum, Major H. J. Pierce, Surgeon F. J. Davignon, Asst.-Surgeon C. H. Vaughn, Acting-Adjt. Lieut. Paul Digean, Capts. John Halleck, Warren Luce and George W. Hines; Lieuts. Buchanan, Jno. S. South, U. B. Brokaw, John Matthews, and J. H. Harrington.

The Ninety-eighth Regiment, commanded by Lieut.-Col. F. F. WEAD, bring back 380 men. They went into the field commanded by Col. DUTTON, who was taken with typhus fever at Fair Oaks and died. He was a very popular officer, and his men deeply regret his loss. Their present Commander, Lieut.-Col. WEAD, has proved himself on many a field, and is highly and justly appreciated by his men. The officers of the regiment are: Lieut.-Col. F. F. Wead, Surgeon J. J. Van Rensselaer, Adjt. D. H. Stapton, Capts. E. J. Hildreth, L. A. Rodgers, Davis, Lewis E. N. Allen and W. H. Rodgers, Lieuts. H. D. Hickok, Gile, Copps, Wells, A. B. Phelps, A. S. Harris and Geo. H. Booth. The brigade is home on the usual thirty days' furlough, the men have all reenlisted, and they all feel confident that at the expiration of their furlough they will return with full ranks.

Hop at the Metropolitan.

Monday evening a most brilliant and enjoyable hop—it were better called a ball—was given at the Metropolitan. The occasion was one in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. FLORENCE, whose hundredth night and over of winning golden opinions in the "Ticket-of-Leave Man" had induced the numerous boarders of this favorite hotel, of which Mr. and Mrs. FLORENCE are inmates, and some of their friends outside, to extend to them the compliment. It was indeed a brilliant affair. All around was intelligence, beauty, taste, all around was enjoyment, and all around united in conceding this hop to be the success of the season. To the Messrs. LELAND was intrusted its management, and their success in contributing to the pleasure of their guests received more than the ordinary acknowledgements. Enjoyment would have reigned supreme were it not that it had to share its throne with hospitality.

Shall Soldiers and Sailors Vote?

To the Electors of New-York:

The undersigned have been appointed a committee, by the Union Central Committee, with instructions to call the attention of the loyal electors of New-York to the election to be held on the 8th day of March, to determine whether the Constitution of the State shall be so amended as to allow such of our citizens as may hereafter be absent in the military or naval service of the country, the right to vote!

In discharging the duty assigned to us, we do not consider it necessary to enter into any argument to prove the propriety or justice of the proposed amendment. It is only necessary, we trust, to call the attention of loyal citizens to the fact that such an election is at hand, to bring out an overwhelming affirmative vote.

A light vote at this election, would convict us of the basest ingratitude toward the brave men who are now periling their lives in defence of our common country. By our votes, on the 8th of March, we have an opportunity of proving to these gallant men that their patriotic sacrifices are appreciated by their friends at home.

Our soldiers and sailors require moral as well as physical support. In no way can we more successfully strengthen their hands for the final struggle with treason now so near at hand, than by giving a united vote in support of the proposed amendment to the Constitution of our State in their behalf. They have defended us and our country on the battle-field, and the least we can do for them is to protect them at the ballot-box.

Let us, therefore, devote one day to secure for our gallant soldiers and sailors in the service of the Union the right to participate in choosing the civil officers to whose hands the future destinies of our State and nation are to be confided. By so doing, we can roll up such a majority on the 8th of March as will cheer the hearts and strengthen the arms of every citizen of the Empire State now in the armies and navy of the Republic.

The Union Central Committee of the City and County of New-York will provide the necessary ballots, and through the Union Ward Associations they will be placed in every election district on the day of election, so as to enable every citizen to cast his vote in favor of this important and just measure.

SINCLAIR TOUSEY, JAMES KELLY, A. J. WILLIAMSON, Special Com. Union Cen. Com.
WILLIAM A. DARLING, Chairman.
WILLIAM M. DUNNING, HUGH GARDNER, Vice-Presidents.
HENRY H. HUELAT, CHARLES H. HALL, Secretaries.

"Johnny Bouquet" and his Flowers—They Turn Up in the Marine Court.

MARINE COURT—TRIAL TERM.

Before Judge McCarthy.

Mary Wetterle vs. George Brower.—This was an action to recover $220 for flowers, plants, shrubs, evergreens, &c., sold by plaintiff to defendant, and for work and labor performed for him. The defendant may be seen any day at the theatres, the hotels, or on Broadway, with a rose-bud in his mouth, a basket of flowers in his extended hand, which he thrusts under your nose with the solicitous rhyme,

"Gents buy one,
Ladies try one,"

and is well known to the New-York public as "Johnny Bouquet," the "Original Jacobs" of flower merchants in this City. Plaintiff alleges that she was engaged by defendant to make up flowers into bouquets; that she likewise sold to him a great number of cut flowers, shrubs, &c., and that defendant has not paid her for her labor or her flowers. Defendant claims that he has paid all that the flowers were really worth, and paid her in full for her services. From the evidence given thus far it would seem to be a dispute as to the value of the flowers furnished. The case was adjourned until this morning in order that the original accounts between the parties might be produced.

Mr. Anderson for plaintiff; Charles S. Spencer for defendant.

Habeas Corpus for Discharge of Children from the House of Refuge.

His Honor took the paper and reserved his decision until this morning.

TUESDAY, March 1—P. M.

The price of Gold is higher to-day on the speculative demand, the short sellers of last week finding it difficult to make their deliveries, except at an advance of rate. The Customs demand is not so active as last week; the Export demand continues moderate. The Exchange on London for the Boston mail left off 173¾@174½ ℘ cent., irregular.

The new month comes in on a very easy Money market, the rates on the Street being 5@6 ℘ cent. to the Stock Exchange and to the Bill Brokers offering strictly prime short paper.

There is a good request to-day for the 5-20 ℘ cent U. S. Loan at 107@107½ ℘ cent., and some considerable parcels have been taken, supposed for transmission to Europe. Treasury Certificates are a fraction less firm; sales at 99½ ℘ cent.

The speculation in the Railway and Miscellaneous Shares at the Stock Exchange Board was active, and the turn in prices early in the day rather in favor of the Bear interest, especially on Erie Common Stock. The threat is still held over the market of a large immediate conversion of 4th and 5th mortgages, but as this was not sufficent, in its honest form, to frighten the price much below 115 per cent., the most extraordinary stories were whispered around the Street of some other manner in which 20,000 or 25,000 new Shares are to be or have already be arranged for. Some of these stories being rather too monstrous to believe, even of a Board of Railway Direction suspected of being controlled in William-street, we conclude that the creation of new Stock, if resorted to, to keep out a short speculation, will be in the legal way by the conversion of mortgages. These may be held in sufficient amount, by one or more wealthy Directors, who have either been bearing their own Stock, or mean to avail of a free market to sell their own Bonds by conversion. It is not uncharitable to conclude that they will forego the last-named process, if under the impending threat of 20,000 new shares, they can buy for delivery, at a round profit, a corresponding or greater number of the old. The remainder of the Railways were generally steady, and Reading higher than yesterday, in sympathy with the other Shares connected with the Anthracite Coal trade. The Miscellaneous Shares were higher on Quicksilver, Canton and Central Coal, and lower on Mariposa and Cumberland. At the close of the Second Board the general market was a shade firmer.

At 4 o'clock the following prices were made in comparison with Monday afternoon:

TURNER & GRIEVES review thus:—Accumulating stocks and unfavorable European accounts have finally deprived our market of the buoyancy which has existed in consequence of the proposed increase in the Internal Revenue Tax, and, at the close, the tendency is decidedly in favor of buyers, and the demand much lessened. The stock on hand in this port at date is not less than 63,000 bbls. Crude and 48,000 bbls Refined. Stock of Beef, to-day, 84,600 tierces and bbls., against 107,643 tierces and bbls. Feb. 1, 1864. Beef Hams, $20 50@$21 ℘ bbl.; sales, 160 bbls. Butter continues in fair demand, at 24c.@30c. for poor to choice Western, and 29c.@36c. for common to choice State, ℘ ℔. Cheese is in moderate request at 14c.@17c. ℘ ℔.

RICE—East India has been quiet, yet steady, at $7 75@$8 50 ℘ 100 ℔s.

SUGARS—Are in fair demand at full rates. Sales since our last, 530 hhds., including New-Orleans 12½c.@14½c., and Cuba at 13c.@14½c.; 170 boxes Havana, part at 13½c.@13½c. ℘ ℔. Refined Sugars are salable and steady at 14c.@18c. ℘ ℔.

TALLOW—Sales since our last 125,000 ℔s., at 12½c.@12½c., chiefly at 12½c. and 15,000 ℔s. Grease at 11½c. ℘ ℔. Messrs. KNIGHT & SONS notice the week's business thus: "Since our last the market has been rather weak, caused by the decline in the English and Continental markets, and had it not been for the advance in gold to meet it, prices would have been still lower. During the forepart of the week there was a good demand for strictly prime at 12½c.@12¾, at which figures there was some large lots disposed of, to arrive from Chicago, (a superior article) equal in quality to Butchers' Association. However, the ruling price for the general run of Western brands has been 12½c.@12½c. for lots to arrive and on the spot. We note some sales of Prime Quality City Rendered at 12½c.@12½c.; Eastern and County at 12½c. There is a scarcity of Soap Grease of all kinds. We quote dark brown Grease at 11c.; yellow at 11½c. to 11½c.; white at 11½c.; there is a good demand for either of these grades at prices named. To-day the market is quite firm at 12½c. to 12½c. for choice brands suitable for shipment or for Candles. The home-trade for Candles is affected greatly by the abundance of Petroleum oil, which causes Chandlers to buy lightly. We quote the market as closing firm at 12½c., but few sales were made. The holders are firm and few lots are offered on the market at present prices. We note at closing, the market having an upward tendency. Price this day, 1858, 11c.; 1859 11c., 1860, 10½c.; 1861, 9½c.; 1862, 9c. ℘ ℔.

WOOL—The movements in this line in February, Messrs. Bellkampf & Kitching notice thus: "During the month of February, the demand in general for most descriptions of Wool was good, and would have been increased if it had not been for the auction sales both here and at Boston, and the one announced for the 3d inst. These sales had a tendency to check trade and depress prices, especially for Domestic Fleece and Pulled; also, the finer grades of Foreign Wool. Holders of Domestic Wool are more anxious to close out their stocks as the Spring approaches, although there is but a moderate supply of Fleece and Pulled Wools on sale. Prices have somewhat declined, and are unsettled at our quotations. The same is also the case with California Wools. Mexican and Texas Wools are scarce, and firm at quoted rates. Foreign Fine Wools have been neglected, and prices are easier and unsettled. There is a good stock and selection on hand. The various accounts about the new clip of Mestizo—Buenos Ayres Wools—are unfavorable as the wool is represented heavier, more burry and of weak staple. Foreign Medium Wools have been in active demand, and our stocks have become moderate. The sandy and very heavy kinds, and Provence Wools have remained neglected. Foreign Low Wools have been sold pretty extensively, principally good long White Wool for combing, and shorter ones for blankets. The sales of Gray and Black Wools, for army blankets have been much less than was expected; and prices are depressed, and below cost in most instances. It is a singular fact that the high rates of Gold and Exchange, during February (157@161 for gold and exchange in due proportion,) did not have any particular influence on the prices of Wool as formerly. The news from foreign markets report all the desirable kinds of Wool, either fine, medium or common, as very firm at full prices, and stocks of it are light. The undesirable grades of Wool are still held too high to import. The imports of Wool into New-York for the year 1862 were 88,801 bales, 37,347,513 ℔s.; the imports of Wool into New-York for the year 1863 were 108,841 bales, 48,881,361 ℔s.; the imports of Wool into New-York from Dec. 23, 1863, to Jan. 25, 1864, were 11,634 bales, 4,221,239 ℔s.; the imports of Wool into New-York for the month ending Feb. 22, 1864, were 17,280 bales, 6,456,379 ℔s."

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

The news from the Army of the Potomac is up to 9 o'clock yesterday morning, at which time Gen. Custer's Cavalry were sharply engaged with the enemy beyond Madison Court-house, in the direction of Stannardsville, on Lee's left flank. Madison Court-house was in our possession. Our dispatch states that Kilpatrick had been heard from, and that reports were favorable. Lee's communications with Richmond are reported cut. Kilpatrick crossed the Rapidan on Saturday night, and at once penetrated to Spotsylvania Court-house, from which point he was to operate in Lee's rear, even to the very gates of Richmond. A report was current at Culpepper yesterday morning, to the effect that he had whipped Hampton's rebel legion badly, and taken several hundred prisoners, including Hampton himself. The cavalry operations are the leading feature of the present movement.

A dispatch from Bombay to the London Shipping Gazette, dated Jan. 29, announces the pirate Alabama to be off the west coast of India, and says that the ship Emma, of New-York, has been destroyed by her. A private letter from Singapore, dated Jan. 3, says that the pirate has completely stopped American commerce in the East. It is thought that her next field of operations will be on the California coast.

A dispatch has been received at Albany from Provost-Marshal-General Fry, directing that arrangements be at once made for proceeding with the draft on the 10th of March in such districts as had not filled their quota on the 1st of March. Intervening enlistments to be credited after the drawing.

A dispatch from Cincinnati to a Philadelphia paper announces that Gen. Thomas is advancing from Tunnel Hill to Dalton in force, for the purpose of attacking Johnston, and that a battle is probable.

FROM EUROPE.

The arrival at this port yesterday of the steamship Bremen, from Southampton Feb. 17, puts us in possession of four days' later news from Europe. The discussion of the American question was continued in the British Parliament. In reply to the assertion of Lord Derby that the detention of the Liverpool rams was brought about under the pressure of threats by the United States Government, Earl Russell read extracts from correspondence with the American Minister disproving the allegation. In reference to the claims of the United States for damages done by the Alabama and other rebel cruisers, Earl Russell said that the British Government was in no way responsible for the losses, and he trusted that the United States would modify its views on the subject. The rumors that an armistice would soon be proclaimed between the Danes and the allied German forces seem to have been ill-grounded. The Danes, though in sorely tried straits, assert their determination of devoting the whole strength of the nation to the recovery of Schleswig, the whole of which, excepting the towns of Sundervitt and Alsen, they had been compelled to evacuate. On the 13th, the intrenched position of the Danes at Düppel was attacked by the allies, who were unsuccessful, and it was determined that to carry the position by direct assault would involve too much waste of life. Consequently mortar batteries were being erected with a view of dislodging them from their intrenchments. The Prussians had occupied the post of Kiel. The Danish frigate Neil Zuil was cruising in the British Channel after Prussian and Austrian vessels, thereby exciting much interest.

The Austrian Reichrath closed its session on the 15th by a speech from the Emperor, in which he asserted that he had done all in his power to preserve peace, but having been compelled in honor to take part in the Federal execution in Schleswig, he hoped that the result of the war would be to secure a happy future to those countries whose rights had long been violated, and that the peace of Europe in a more extended sphere would not be endangered.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, yesterday, the bill to protect overland emigration was passed; also the resolution of thanks to reënlisted veterans. Mr. Buckalew submitted a minority report on the repeal of the Fugitive Slave Law, which was ordered printed. The $20,000,000 Five-forty Loan Bill was taken up and passed, after some slight amendments, one of which makes the principal of the loan payable in gold. The Senate insisted on its amendment to the Whisky Bill, and agreed to submit the measure again to the House for final action.

In the House, the Committee of Ways and Means were instructed to inquire into the expediency of establishing an office for the transfer of Government bonds in New-York. A joint resolution, offered by Mr. Brandagee, of Connecticut, fixing the final adjournment of Congress on the 31st of May next, was passed. The disagreement of the Conference Committee on the whisky tax came up, and after discussion, the House passed a resolution instructing its committee to report a tax of 20 to 40 cents per gallon on stocks on hand, and to ask of the Senate a new Conference Committee. The bill establishing a Bureau of Freedmen's Affairs was discussed and finally passed, by 2 majority.

STATE LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate last evening, an important message regarding the quota of New-York under the last calls for troops, was received from Gov. Seymour. The Commission appointed by the Secretary of War to examine into alleged inequalities of the draft in this State, has reported that the enrollment was excessive, imperfect and erroneous, especially with reference to New-York and Brooklyn. The Commissioners recommend that the quota of 60,378 men allotted to the State under the call of the President on Oct. 17, 1863, be reduced to 52,858, with a corresponding reduction under the call of Feb. 1.

In the Assembly, the morning session was spent in the discussion of the General Appropriation Bill, and the same subject occupied the greater part of the evening session. A communication was presented from the Metropolitan Police Commissioners in reply to a resolution of the Assembly, calling for information respecting the evils of prostitution.

GENERAL NEWS.

The Board of Aldermen met specially yesterday, their first meeting in over a week. A resolution was adopted requesting the Comptroller to report to the board why he refuses to perfect the purchase of the Fort Gansevoort property. A resolution by Mr. Jones was adopted, requesting our members of the Legislature to protest against the passage of the proposed act to give over the control and management of our markets to a special commission. A resolution was adopted requesting the Comptroller to give information why the laborers in the departments do not get their pay. The Committee on Arts and Sciences presented reports in favor of procuring a portrait of Ex-Mayor Opdyke, and to purchase Clark Mills' duplicate equestrian statue of Gen. Jackson at the price of $33,000. Laid over under the rule. An ordinance to create eight additional Assistant Engineers of the Fire Department was presented and laid over. The Board refused to concur in the ordinance directing an issue of bonds to take up and pay the Union Defence Bonds, the Redemption Bonds to be payable Dec. 1, of this year. This will compel the insertion of the needed sum in the Annual Appropriation Bill. A report was presented and laid over in favor of donating a plot of ground on Ward's Island to the "Society for the Protection of Roman Catholic Children in New-York," created by act of the Legislature of 1863. A report adverse to allowing Patrick F. McGinn $600 on a sewer contract, for excess of Inspector's fees, caused by extraordinary delay, was approved. The Mayor vetoed the resolution to pay the laborers in the Croton Department $2 per day, because there is no appropriation to meet the increased expense. The Board concurred in appointing the Commissioners of Deeds over the Mayor's veto that were reappointed this year, after a failure of meeting with the Mayor's approval last year, and adjourned to Thursday, at 3 o'clock, P. M.

The Board of Supervisors met yesterday. Comptroller Brennan's report of county finances for 1863 was presented, laid over and ordered to be printed. A summary of it will be found elsewhere. The Mayor's nomination of Michael Doody for Marshal of the First District, made on Feb. 2, vice Sylvester Robbins, appointed last December, but who failed to qualify, was taken up and confirmed. The Mayor sent in a message vetoing a bill for labor and materials on Harlem Bridge. He says he had already signed one or two of these bills, and did so under the impression that the Bridge Commission "was one of those numerous emanations of Legislative power which the State has created apparently to spend the money of the tax-payers of New-York without regard to the will of their representatives." The Mayor passes over this point and proceeds with general objections: "With reference to the general management of the work, I find, after the lapse of over three years and the expenditure of nearly $500,000, a full corps of engineers and a property clerk helping the five Commissioners to watch Mr. Roach, the contractor, supply the materials to complete his engagements. What need of such an army of officers when the entire work is under contract?" These officers' salaries amount to $13,300 per year, or $300 more a year than is paid for the salary of the Mayor and all the attachés of his office. The Mayor asks why the two Westchester Commissioners are paid $3 per day, when that county has not yet contributed toward the expense of the work? The Committee on Printing and Stationery were directed to have the necessary ballots printed to be used in voting next Monday on the proposed amendment to the State Constitution, to allow soldiers to vote, and the opinion of the Corporation Counsel was asked whether the Inspectors of Elections must canvass the ballots or not. It seems the law ordering the election does not provide that the canvassers shall act. The board adjourned to 12 o clock M. on Saturday, in order to fill up all vacancies of election officers that may occur in the meantime, and to receive Mr. Develin's opinion.

The County Volunteer Committee, yesterday, communicated to the Supervisors a letter from Provost-Marshal General Fry, to Gen. Hays, the Assistant Provost-Marshal of New-York, showing the quota of New-York County under the President's call for 500.000 men. The quota is fixed at 15,979. This is a much lower figure than it had been expected would be claimed of this county, as 20,000 was the figure it was estimated would be required, calculated upon the number demanded for 300,000 men. It will be noticed, therefore, that there is a reduction in the quota of about 4,000, which fact is owing to the exertions of the County Volunteer Committee, from representations made by them to the proper authorities. The committee show that toward the 15,979 men now demanded, 13,070 have been furnished, leaving a balance of only 2,909 to be obtained under all existing calls, and this number, the committee estimate, will be raised by the 10th of March, as they are now paying the county bounty to between two and three hundred men a day. The letter also states that the quota for the Tenth Congressional District is 2,591, and the quotas of the First, Second and Third Districts is 7,874.

Comptroller Brennan yesterday opened bids for Volunteer Soldiers Family Aid Fund bonds to the amount of $500,000, being the eighth loan of the same character. The bonds bear five per cent. interest, payable half yearly, and the principal redeemable Nov. 1, 1872. Only one bid was accepted, that of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, for $350,000 at par. The bonds do not afford a long enough investment or pay sufficient interest to be attractive to capitalists; but the fact of his being able to meet the continued demands to replenish this fund shows that the Comptroller is doing well. The bids for the remaining $1,000,000 of the Soldiers' Bounty Fund Bonds will be opened on next Monday. There will be very active bidding for these. They bear interest at 6 per cent. and run twenty years. It will be recollected that $1,000,000 worth of them have been awarded at an average premium of 2½ per cent.

The Live Stock markets are scantily supplied with cattle. There are plenty of sheep and hogs for the high prices at which they are now selling. Beef cattle number 3,291, which are the smallest receipts for two years. The supply was insufficient, and fully ½c. ℔ lb. was added to the previously high quotations. Large numbers were sold at 15c.@16c. ℔ lb. for the meat, and scarcely anything brought less than 11c. The average was about 13c., and the 2,877 yarded at Forty-fourth street were sold very early.... Sheep are plenty, though the receipts (11,777) are not so large as last week, but double the number received this time last year. Prices are declining, good fat stock selling at 8c @8½c. ℔ lb.... Live Hogs are in greater supply, the 8,544 received for the week being enough for all wants at the present rates. Sales are slow at falling prices, or 8c. for prime corn-fed, and 7½c. for distillery hogs.

Flour was more active, but prices were unsettled, yesterday. Wheat attracted rather more attention, and desirable lots of Spring were very firm. Mixed Western Corn was depressed and cheaper. Oats were dull and lower. Provisions were generally in moderate demand at about former rates. Groceries were in fair request, as were also Metals, Hay, Hops and Tallow. Freights were quiet, owing to the extreme firmness of holders. The changes in other branches of trade were unimportant.

The price of Gold was higher yesterday, closing 160 ℔ cent. Money easy. The Stock Exchange lower on Erie Shares, but generally steady. Government Stocks in request, at 107@107⅛ for the Popular Loan.

Gen. Sherman's Movements.—There has been no intelligence, either directly or indirectly, from Gen. Sherman, for several days—not since his reported arrival at Selma, which still remains to be fully confirmed. A rebel dispatch from Atlanta, dated Feb. 26, states, however, that Sherman's advance had reached "Pearly Pear," a point we cannot find on any map, but undoubtedly east or southeast of Meridian, which point Sherman had positively reached by the 20th or 22d of February, for on the latter day Bishop Polk telegraphed to the rebel War Department that Sherman had "halted at Meridian, evidently awaiting the arrival of cavalry reinforcements." But as the latest dispatch is also from rebel sources, we may be sure that he did not tarry long at Meridian. The cavalry force which was destined to coöperate with Sherman, was Smith and Grierson's expedition from Memphis, which, as is already known, returned to the latter point, having failed in its objects, after penetrating into Mississippi one hundred and thirty miles, or over half way to Meridian. This failure may embarrass Sherman considerably, though he can take care of himself abundantly well without cavalry, but he needed such a force to make his march felt by the enemy, especially if he moves across the State of Alabama, as he has across Mississippi. The cause of the failure of the cavalry is said to have been the concentration of all the rebel cavalry at West Point, Miss., to oppose Gen. Smith's column. As our force was about ten thousand strong, it ought to have been equal to all the rebel cavalry that Bishop Polk could muster. We are inclined to think that the leader of the expedition was deceived as to the enemy's strength, and that he did not make an earnest attempt to get through, for no severe fighting is reported, and our retreat seems to have been unnecessary. The charge that delay on the start was caused by the slow movements of Pennsylvania and New-Jersey regiments, may have some truth in it, but as there were but two of these regiments, and they new and raw at that, they ought not to have been considered essential to the expedition, or of consequence enough to have caused an hour's delay. The failure is more likely attributable to want of pluck and dash in its Commander. Grierson's former exploits were a basis of hope for this expedition, but he was only second in command this time.

The Dreadful Democratic Dilemma—The Final Decision.

We have somewhere read a French story running somewhat in this wise: Monsieur Feuillet was traveling in a steamboat, when an explosion took place. He was transfixed by an iron spit seven feet long. The spit went in at the abdomen and passed out at the back, so that there were three feet of the spit before and three feet behind. Monsieur Feuillet was conveyed to the nearest hotel. His condition demanded all the resources of art. A surgeon being summoned, felt the patient's pulse, and asked him where he was suffering. "In the abdomen," replied the wounded man. "Indeed! How did it happen to you?" The patient thereupon detailed the sad incident of his being transfixed. The surgeon shook his head, and resumed: "Are they subject to this accident, Sir, in your family?" "No," replied the patient, "not that I know. My father and mother are very old and have never been spitted. So with regard to my brothers and sisters, and my uncles and my aunts." "Very well, Sir, I required that information in order to give a correct prognosis. You experience, I suppose, considerable difficulty in lying on your back?" "Yes, Sir; it is, indeed, impossible." "Is it not easier for you to lie on your stomach?" "I experience precisely the same difficulty." "It must, therefore, be much easier for you to lie on your side." "That is the only position I can lie in." "That will suffice, Sir. It only remains to determine upon the treatment. Here the indications are very precise: either we can let the spit alone, but then you will most likely die of inflammation; or we can extract it, but then it is not probable that you will survive the operation. Science, Sir, has its limits; your fate is in your own hands; you can decide for either one treatment or the other."

The Democratic party, ever since the grand blow-up at Charleston, has been in just that fix—spitted through and through, "three feet before, three feet behind," with the peculiar institution it had been leaning on. It has not known an easy moment since. It could rest neither on back nor belly. The most skillful political doctors were consulted over it. All that they have discovered is that the pain was in the abdomen, that the ailment was not hereditary—that the patient could only lie on the side—that he would fester to death if kept spitted, bleed to death if unspitted. But the patient has all the while been growing worse—of late tossing fearfully, out of head most of the time, the death rattle in the throat. At last it was agreed by the friends of the sufferer that there was no chance but in extracting the spit; and by a long pull, and a strong pull, and a pull altogether, on Monday afternoon, they did extract it. The operation is recorded in the Congressional proceedings of that date, on the resolution that "the cause of this rebellion must be permanently removed." Every friend of the party in the House, it appears, lent a hand to the work; so, if there be any malpractice in the matter, they are all guilty of it. Of the result we hear nothing. It is only known that the patient is kept in a dark room, and not allowed to say anything above a whisper.

We are not versed in cases of this sort, but our belief is that the Democratic party will never survive the shock of extracting Slavery from its vitals. It is true there never was a political organization which showed such vitality as has this in other days. It has recovered over and over again from injuries which would have been the sure death of any other party. Naturally daring, we may say indeed reckless, it has been knocked off from its legs more times than can be counted—frequently been deemed deader than a door-nail; and yet in less than six weeks, it would be up and out again, sound as a roach, and with more fight in it than ever. We have sometimes thought that it had all the vital tenacity of the spirits below, as well as some of their other qualities. Yet it is human, after all, and it is a scientific fact that there is some limit to all human endurance. Beyond doubt, it did very strangely survive the Missouri Compromise repeal, the Lecompton Constitution, the Dred Scott decision, the Buchanan Cabinet, the secession ordinances, the rebel-sympathizing demonstrations, the peace intrigues, the anti-enrollment riots, and many other tremendous trials. All that ought to have killed the party, no doubt, and would have killed it had it been made of ordinary flesh and blood. It was quite marvelous that it did not. Yet, after all, there was no miracle in it. We can only say that it was a very, very, tough party. But we repeat that we do not believe it possible for the party to survive such a retrovulsion of Slavery through its liver and veins as it was subjected to last Monday. In our opinion, that agony was all in vain. The party might better have been left to die in peace. Its old teachers in Dixie have recently discovered that cold iron is least dangerous in a state of rest. It is a fact, too, that a violent death is the least agreeable one.

The Congressional Corruption Committee.

We see that the Congressional Committee, appointed to investigate the charges and rumors of corruption and improper conduct on the part of Government officials, has taken rooms in Wall-street, and is about to commence its labors. We do not believe this is intended to be a mere white-washing affair, but that the committee are determined to search matters to the bottom, let the result be what it may. All honest men must desire this. But this is not enough. The committee must have the hearty coöperation of all the honest men, for all the rogues will combine against them, and with the best of intentions, and with the utmost skill and diligence, they may find that they are utterly unable to accomplish anything unless they do receive such coöperation. How shall they commence? Where, amidst the immense mass of business which has been transacted by Federal officials during the past year even, shall they begin to look for evidence of impropriety? It is of no use for them to catechise the officials themselves—nothing will be learned in that way. How shall they get wind of anything that has been wrong unless they are put upon the scent by some one who has been where it was, who has suffered from it himself, or seen or known of others being injured by it?

There is a great tendency among men, where such matters are concerned, to keep still about them, from fear of injuring themselves or their friends, of having themselves talked about, or being exposed to vengeance hereafter at the hands of those who hold the power, and who may continue to hold it even though they have misused it.

Men who have been compelled to pay money improperly oftentimes prefer to bear the wrong and say nothing about it, except by grumbling in a general way about the corruption of office-holders and the demoralization of the community. But their very silence is one means of continuing this corruption and increasing this demoralization. Let it be once made known by the report of this committee what rascalities have been carried on here, and the chance of their being checked in future, if not rooted out, is greatly increased. It is therefore the duty of every man who has known or heard of any such dealings to make them known to the committee, that they may be inquired into. If any one fails to do this, at least let him hereafter cease complaining of corruption.

We are willing to begin for ourselves, by calling the attention of the committee to one matter which may well come within their province. We refer to the case of the Hiawatha and its missing cargo. Here was $15,000 worth of tobacco spirited away out of the keeping of the Marshal, two years ago, and neither the cargo nor its value have as yet been replaced, but are still a loss to the Government and the navy. There was an investigation into the facts, and a report made by the Prize Commissioners, but nothing was ever done about it. There was an investigation by the Solicitor of the Treasury, which should have covered the case, and we presume did so, but we have not heard of any result from that investigation either. As to the facts of the case, possibly no further information could be obtained at this late day; but why nothing has been ever done about the matter, and who is responsible that the Government has not had its due for two years—whether officers here or accounting officers at Washington—these seem to us questions which this committee, unless it has more important business, might very well inquire into.

AMUSEMENTS.

Academy of Music.—To the habitués of the opera there was last night a disappointment and a surprise. Miss Kellogg was indisposed and unable to sing; hence "Faust," which had been announced, was impossible, and the management had to go through the prosy and painful operation of transferring many tickets to the next performance of Gounod's work, or of refunding the money paid for the same. This was the disappointment. The surprise was occasioned by Miss Harris, who at a moment's notice repeated her performance of "Lucia," and before a cold and disappointed audience won the best honors and the most enthusiastic applause that she has yet borne off. The lady was in excellent voice, and being less embarrassed by fright than on the interesting occasion of her début, was able to do full justice to herself. Her performance was really admirable and merited all the applause that it elicited. The artists were all in good condition and added to the general effect of a fine representation.

To-night Verdi's opera of "Macbeth" will be given for the last time; on Friday "Lucrecia Borgia," and on Saturday (matinée) "Faust."

Niblo's Saloon.—Mr. Gottschalk will give his third farewell concert here to-night.

Niblo's Garden.—Miss Richings commenced an engagement here on Monday evening, opening in an Anglicised version of Adolph Adams' celebrated "Postillion de Lonjumeau." The lady is a favorite with theatre-goers, partly because she has a good voice and sings effectively; and partly because she is a fair actress of certain picturesque parts. The rôle of Madelaine, although written for a lighter voice than Miss Richings', exhibits her special qualities to advantage. She sings and acts with all the power possible, and naturally wins the applause of the audience. Mr. Peter Richings supports the lady in a thoroughly admirable manner. His Marquis is a fine piece of character acting. Mr. Seguine as the Blacksmith made the part interesting in a dramatic point of view, but did not add to its musical significance. The support, in other respects, was only tolerable. There was a palpable scattering in all the concerted pieces, showing insufficiency of rehearsal.

The Hippotheatron.—Mr. Cooke is adding attractions to the present numerous ones. Not content with those extraordinary performing dogs and monkeys, truly wonderful in the intelligence, docility and mirth-moving skill they display, several new artists appear, prominent among whom are Mme. Jeannette Ellsler and Mr. Richard Hemmings, two accomplished and elegant tight-rope performers, who appear every evening. Mr. Eaton Stone also remains as the daring and dashing rider of the bare-backed steed. The current week is announced as the last of the dogs and monkeys, but if crowded houses be any cue to success, Mr. Cooke will find it to his interest to retain them some time longer, unless other engagements interfere with his doing so.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE N. Y. TIMES.

Washington, Tuesday, March 1.

THE WHISKY TAX.

The Senate, to-day, in the matter of the whisky conference, ruled instructions taxing liquors on hand out of order. The House in the same matter authorized their Committee to ask another conference, and passed a resolution by a vote of seventy-six yeas to sixty-seven nays, that in the judgment of the House not less than twenty and not more than forty cents should be imposed on stocks on hand. The Senate are determined not to recede from their position, while the vote of instructions from the House indicate a similar purpose. Speculators are bewildered.

THE SOLDIERS AND THE SUCCESSION.

A letter received here to-day from Gen. Grant's army says that nine-tenths of the men composing it are in favor of Mr Lincoln's reëlection, and will vote for him if they have the opportunity. On the 22d of February votes were taken in several brigades and divisions, and out of nearly thirteen thousand ballots polled only five hundred and eighty-two were cast against him.

ANOTHER NOMINATION OF MR. LINCOLN.

A dispatch received here to-day, says the Legislature of Nebraska have unanimously nominated Mr. Lincoln for President, and Andrew Johnson for Vice President.

GEN. GRANT AND THE LIEUTENANT-GENERALSHIP.

The President to-day sent to the Senate the nomination of Gen. Grant as Lieutenant-General. It was referred to the Military Committee.

THE BANKRUPT ACT.

The Special Committee on Bankruptcy, in a few days, will report a bill similar in all its provisions to the one reported at the last session. The alterations made in the old bill are merely technical.

THE SALE OF SURPLUS GOLD.

Mr. Stebbins, to-morrow, with the consent of the House, will move to take up the bill authorizing the sale of the surplus gold in the Treasury. The majority of the Ways and Means Committee are unfavorably inclined to the proposition, and will strenuously oppose the bill. They are unwilling to confer upon the Secretary the powers of a broker.

AMENDMENTS TO THE NATIONAL BANKING LAW.

Several of the leading banks of New-York and New-England are represented by their Presidents before the Ways and Means Committee, in the matter of the proposed amendments to the National Banking Act.

Messrs. Vail and Russell, of the Bank of Commerce, have presented their views to the convention. It is probable that the committee will adopt the amendments proposed by the Comptroller of the Currency, published in the Times of Monday.

ACTION OF THE WAYS AND MEANS.

The Ways and Means Committee have decided not to take any further action on the Revenue or Tariff Bills, until the Whisky and Appropriation Bills are disposed of.

NAVAL STEAM ENGINEERING.

The House Naval Committee had before them Ex-Engineer Martin. He gave it as his opinion that the present theory of the Naval Bureau in the construction of vessels was correct, and that Dickenson's theory had long since exploded.

THE RARITAN BAY RAILROAD.

Counsel for and against the Raritan Bay Railroad case appeared again, to-day, before the House Military Court and completed their arguments. The Committee will make a report at their next meeting.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Washington, Tuesday, March 1.

RECONSTRUCTION IN TENNESSEE.

As some controversy exists in Tennessee concerning the test oath prescribed by Gov. Johnson in his late proclamation, and as questions have been raised as to its incompatibility with the President's Amnesty Proclamation, it is proper to say that it is known in Washington, beyond any doubt, that the President and Gov. Johnson are in perfect accord in the matter of providing for an election in that State with the view of restoring Tennessee to her former position in the Union, and that the President does not consider the Governor's form of oath in the qualification of voters as incongruous with that which he himself has prescribed to be taken as preliminary to pardon, but rather as an oath which should be respected and enforced; and of this fact there is reason to believe that the citizens of Tennessee will be duly informed.

THE FIVE-FORTY LOAN BILL.

The bill supplementary to the Loan Act, having passed both Houses, now only awaits the President's approval to become a law. It is the same as published in this morning's papers, with the addition that the coupons or registered bonds for the two hundred million loan, redeemable at the pleasure of the Government after any period not less than five years from date, and payable at any period not more than forty years from date, are to be paid in coin.

A FIVE PER CENT. LOAN.

It is understood to be the purpose of the Government to issue five per cent. bonds, payable in forty years, but redeemable at the pleasure of the Government after ten years, the principal and interest to be paid in gold. No doubt is entertained that the bonds can be readily placed at par. The plates will be immediately engraved.

NUMBER OF RE-ENLISTED VETERANS.

Several days ago the House of Representatives called upon the President to publish a statement of the number of reënlisted veterans from each State, and other information in that connection. To this the President has replied, inclosing a communication from the Secretary of War, who says that, in his opinion, it would be prejudicial to the public service to transmit to the House at the present time the information requested.

CONFIRMATIONS.

The Senate to-day confirmed the nominations of N. M. Orr to be Assessor of Internal Revenue for the Third District of California, and Alfred Briggs to be Collector of Internal Revenue for the Fourth District of California. Second Lieutenant David Evans was confirmed as First Lieutenant in the Revenue Cutter service. D. N. Cooley was also confirmed as Commissioner of Taxes for the insurrectionary district of South Carolina, vice A. D. Smith, removed.

WARDEN OF THE PRISON.

The appointment of warden of the jail of the District of Columbia, having by law been taken from Marshal Lamon and vested in the President, the latter to-day nominated to that office Robert Beale, of Washington, who was formerly Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

THE NOMINATION OF GEN. GRANT.

The nomination of Maj.-Gen. Grant as Lieutenant-General, which was sent to the Senate to-day, was referred to the Military Committee, according to the usage in affairs relating to the army.

AFFAIRS AT ALBANY.

Reducing the Capital Stock of Banks—Washington's Birthday a Legal Holiday—The Sullivan County Contested Seat—The National Guard Appropriation.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

Albany, Tuesday, March 1.

Credit is due the Legislature for the promptness with which business is resumed after the recess. Both Houses had a quorum, and accomplished about the usual amount of business on reassembling last evening.

A discussion of the general principle involved in permitting banks to reduce their capital stock occurred in the Senate. The point made against bills providing for such reduction of capital stock was, that the design of the banks might be to escape, so far as possible, taxation. Mr. Cook, Chairman of the Bank Committee, explained that many of the banks had actually lost money to a large amount during the past two years. They did not like to come before the Legislature with a statement that they had met with such losses, but he had received private assurances which had convinced him that such was the case. The question of taxation was not involved in the bills under consideration, as had been supposed. It was simply a question of reducing the nominal, so as to accord with the actual reduction of capital stock. The Senate seemed to think the point made against the bills not well sustained, and the objections to the particular bill on which action was to be taken were withdrawn.

Senator Munger gave notice of a patriotic bill, to make the 22d day of February (Washington's Birthday) a legal holiday.

The committee of investigation in relation to the contested seat in the Senate to which Messrs. Niven and Low lay claim, completed the taking of testimony yesterday, and returned here from Sullivan County, where the hearing of witnesses was had, this morning. They bring with them a mass of testimony, but express no opinion, of course, as to what will be proved by it. It is whispered that Mr. Low is in advance of his competitor; but this statement is made without any pretence of authority.

In the Assembly the question of appropriating two hundred thousand dollars for the support of the National Guard of this State was made special order for to-day, before the Legislature took its recess of ten days. Such an exciting question, in which political matters are involved, could not of course lie still for a fortnight. Beside newspaper comments, it will be remembered that George M. Curtis, Assemblyman from New-York, thought it a proper subject to discuss, in celebrating Washington's birthday in this City. Mr. Curtis was the orator of the day on that occasion, and thought the militia question too important to remain unagitated during an extended suspension of other legislative business. There are other evidences that much interest is felt both in and out of the Legislature in reference to the National Guard of the State. Petitions of members of the Guard and others, praying for a speedy organization of the Guard to the maximum number of regiments allowed, have begun to come in. The item of the General Appropriation Bill, upon which the question is made to turn, is not, of course, the important point. If the organization as it exists is a "Copperhead Militia," it will be very difficult to induce this Legislature to vote any appropriation to sustain it. In considering the Appropriation Bill to-day, this militia item, at which point previous consideration of the bill had stuck fast, was put over for separate and special treatment, and the consideration of the remainder of the bill proceeded with. A lively debate occurred in considering the appropriation of fifteen hundred dollars to pay the salary of a special Judge in Delaware County, who, it appeared in the course of the discussion, was supposed to hold a Court of Conciliation in said county. Members from that section stated that the supposed duties of said officer were a myth, and that the appropriation merely gave a man fifteen hundred dollars. As a recent appointment to said office had been made and confirmed, it was judged best to reach the wrong in the case, if it should prove to be such on investigation, in a direct way, and not by withholding the appropriation.

When the Appropriation Bill had been gone through with and amendments generally were in order, Mr. Alvord moved to strike out the militia or National Guard appropriation of $200,000. He said that he did this with the understanding that another member would move to refer the subject matter involved in the appropriation to the Committee on Military Affairs with instructions to report a bill. This motion gave occasion for a renewal of the debate upon this exciting subject. The debate had just begun, and promised to be very spirited when the hour for recess arrived. Mr. Pinckney, of New-York, had the floor, and was speaking in defence of the militia, when the debate was cut short by the recess. It may be resumed this evening.

EVENING SESSION.

MESSAGE FROM GOV. SEYMOUR ON THE DRAFT.

In the Senate, this evening, a message was received from the Governor, informing the Senate that when he called the attention of the Secretary of War to the inequalities of the draft as detrimental to the State of New-York, that official appointed William F. Allen, of this State, John Love, of Indiana, and Chauncey Smith, of Massachusetts, a commission for determining upon the mode for correcting them. This commission have come to the unanimous conclusion that the enrollment for the State of New-York, under the act of March 3, 1863, was imperfect, erroneous and excessive, especially so with reference to the cities of New-York and Brooklyn. The Commission, after due consideration, recommend that the quota of 60,378 men allotted to this State under the call of the President on Oct. 17, 1863, be reduced to 52,858, with a corresponding reduction under the call of Feb. 1, 1864.

The Governor says: "I am happy to state that I have received information from Washington that the quota of this State for the call of 500,000 men has been reduced, as recommended by the Commission, such reduction amounting to between 13,000 and 14,000 men. In crises like the present, the saving of so many men to the industrial interests of the State, should not be lightly estimated. The labor of thirteen thousand men distributed throughout the State will afford great relief, especially in the rural districts, where farm laborers are now with difficulty obtained. While the State pays a bounty of $75 to each volunteer, and other bounties vary from $300 to $600, in a financial point of view this reduction therefore results in a saving of at least $5,000,000 to the people. It is gratifying to me to be able to bear testimony to the aid received in the adjustment of the matter at Washington, from several Senators and a number of Representatives in Congress. It is also due to the Secretary of War, to state that he has shown willingness to do justice to the State of New-York in this matter, by the appointment of an able and impartial commission.

The Commissioners conclude their report as follows:

The Commission are of the opinion that the quota assigned the State of New-York, and the quotas assigned the several districts of the cities of New-York and Brooklyn, are erroneous and excessive, and ought to be reduced."

(Signed,) HORATIO SEYMOUR.

ASSEMBLY.

Albany, Tuesday, March 1.

The General Appropriation bill has been under consteration all day.

The appropriation to the State Idiot Asylum was increased from $18,000 to $23,000.

The appropriation to the Society for the Reformation of Juvenile Delinquents, was increased to $27,000.

The appropriation to the Western House of Refuge, was increased to $30,000.

A debate was had on a motion to strike out the appropriation to the State Militia. The Speaker being in its favor and Messrs. Wooster and Pinckney against it.

The Speaker explained that he made the motion with the understanding that some member would move to refer back the whole subject to the Standing Committee, with instructions to bring in a bill making proper provisions for the militia.

Pending the motion the House took a recess until evening.

EVENING SESSION.

The Speaker presented a communication from the Metropolitan Police Commissioners, in reply to the resolution of the Assembly calling for information respecting the evils of prostitution.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the appropriation bill, the question being on the motion to strike out the appropriation of $200,000 for the National Guard.

After a lengthy discussion by Messrs. Pinckney, Benedict, Crooke, Reddington and McCarty, the appropriation was stricken out by a vote of fifty yeas against thirty-three nays, and the bill was ordered to a third reading.

AFFAIRS IN JAPAN.

Payment of the British Indemnity Claims—Difficulties of Trading with Foreigners, &c., &c.

KANAGAWA, Japan, Friday, Dec. 18, 1863.

Since our last the Ambassadors of the Prince of Satsuma have paid the £25,000 demanded by the English Chargé d'Affaires, as indemnity for the murder of Mr. RICHARDSON, and wounding of others of his party. It was accompanied by the usual delays of Japanese diplomacy, as the time pledged for its payment had passed several days before the money was forthcoming. As we stated in our last, the fact alone of this powerful Prince sending an Embassy to sue for peace, and ready to submit to the terms, from the first, dictated by the English, shows that a little demonstrative force has had a good effect. There are many rumors afloat respecting the action of the Kin-su Princes, as they are called, whose domains make up the island of Kin-su, the second in size and most southerly of the Japanese group. One day we hear of their seceding and setting up another Empire; and another of their holding conference with the Micado, or Spiritual Emperor, as to the policy of opening the whole country to foreign intercourse, hoping thereby to destroy the monopoly that the Taicoon and his Government have of it at present.

Such a conference is said to be now in sitting, the results of which, whether favorable or not to our interests, it will take months to become developed. Little of what is going on about the thrones of the two Emperors and among the Princes is, in reality, known. Conjectures are, in the main, all we have to record.

Another panic has seized a number of the principal native merchants doing business with foreigners in Kanagawa. We see daily as we go out into the principal streets of the Japanese town new closures of shops and stores, and in some instances they have commenced tearing down and actually carrying away the buildings they formerly occupied. The cause of this panic is in the assassination of several members of the native mercantile houses in Yeddo, which have branches, and are engaged in trade with foreigners in this place.

They have been warned by means of placards placed in conspicuous places, that unless they discontinued their operations in Kanagawa, they would be assassinated. At first, little or no notice was taken of it, but the threatening parties have been as good as their word, and if this system is followed up, foreign trade must be ruined in a very short time. The Government has appointed three daimeres, with 200 or 300 men each, to patrol the city of Yeddo by night, but as they go in a body, with lanterns and jingling staffs, they as yet seem to have met with but poor success in entrapping the offenders. It is supposed that these assassinations are done or instigated by those who are opposed to foreign intercourse, as their posted bills declare.

They say if there is no trade, foreigners will go away; and as they cannot see any other method by which they can get rid of us so safely and easily, they declare their intentions of following it up till their object is accomplished. But should foreigners still hold on after trade is abolished, they go on to say that a raid will be made on Kanagawa, and the place cleared of us by the sword. This last, however, we do not fear much, as our protection is ample against any such attempts, provided the Government is sincere and can be trusted, which we have little reason to doubt at present, as far as any acts of violence toward us are concerned. Whether, however, the Government winks at these assassinations, as accomplishing for them what they have of late tried to do by asking, it is impossible to say. Sometimes we think they really want to get rid of us, and then again, we conclude that their apparent opposition is only a blind to the conservatives.

Some of the more intelligent Japanese themselves say they do not believe foreign intercourse can be satisfactorily established till there has been a war in the country, and more especially the opposing Princes or conservatives, whoever they are, have been made to feel the real power of western nations, and that a treaty is a solemn obligation which cannot be broken with impunity.

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH CURED.

No. 420 SIXTH-AV., NEW-YORK, Dec. 2, 1863.

I was deaf for several years, and hearing of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I was induced to place myself under his care, and I am now happy to state that my hearing was entirely restored after a short treatment. I was also suffering from chronic catarrh, of which I was also cured by the skillful treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg. I do but justice to the Doctor in stating that in treating me he displayed that skill and knowledge which have already procured for him such a deserved reputation, and that the principles which direct his system of curing Deafness and Catarrh are such as to render success certain, in my opinion. Many months have passed since Dr. Von Eisenberg restored my hearing, and it continues as good as ever.

CATARRH CURED.

READ!

I have been suffering for a long time from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery, and very painful. My nostrils were constantly obstructed with a pouring fluid. That frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, often attended with a fullness of my throat, great soreness, and a continual dropping. Dr. Von Eisenberg has cured me of all these disagreeable sufferings. I may, indeed, say that I feel a new life. The treatment of Dr. Von Eisenberg is as skillful as it is successful. It is in my opinion impossible to overrate the benefit I have received at his hands. I heartily recommend any one suffering like myself to place themselves under Dr. Von Eisenberg's care, with a certainty of being speedily cured.

HARLEM, July 30, 1863.

I have been deaf for over TWENTY-FIVE YEARS, and Dr. VON EISENBERG operated on both of my ears without the slightest pain—a thing that I could not believe could be done. I now hear well, and feel as I never felt for the last twenty years. The dexterity and skill with which the operation was performed evince the highest practical ability. I hear perfectly. It is now over a month since the operation, and I continue to feel as well as ever.

No. 134 ALLEN-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 9, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head; for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.

JOHN TAYLOR.

NEW-YORK, July 19, 1862.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with coagulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.

READ.

NEW-YORK, March 20, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he has shown in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

IN THE YEAR 1863.

Consumption has destroyed more of the human family than any other disease, and the best physicians for many years have despaired of a cure, or a remedy that would heal the lungs; but for more than two hundred years the whole medical world has been impressed that there was a mysterious power and efficiency in the Pine Tree Tar to heal the lungs; therefore they have recommended the use of Tar Water, which in many cases has a good effect; but how to combine its medical properties so as to heal the lungs, has ever been a mystery until it was discovered by Dr. L. Q. C. WISHART, of Philadelphia, Penn., the proprietor of Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, and has been put in bottles, patented by the United States Government. We say to the afflicted that Dr. WISHART'S Pine Tree Tar Cordial will produce the INVIGORATION OF THE DIGESTIVE ORGANS, THE STRENGTHENING OF THE DEBILITATED SYSTEM, THE PURIFICATION AND ENRICHMENT OF THE BLOOD, which must expel from the system the corruption which scrofula breeds. While this is effected by the powerful alterative (changing from disease to health) properties of the Tar Cordial, its healing and renovating principle is also acting upon the irritated surfaces of the lungs and throat, penetrating to each diseased part, relieving the pain, subduing inflammation and restoring a healthful tendency. Let this twofold power, the healing and the strengthening, continue to act in conjunction with nature's constant recuperative tendency, and the patient is saved, if he has not too long delayed to resort to the means of cure.

INFLAMMATION OF THE LUNGS.

There is not a medicine discovered that has so much power to dissolve the thick mucus that stops up the wind passages of the lungs as the Pine Tree Tar Cordial, which subdues the fever and inflammation that destroy the power and vitality of the lungs and consign the patient to the grave. We say to all whose lungs are affected, use Dr. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial with great confidence, as it has restored thousands of cases to health that were hopelessly given up to die.

The Pine Tree Tar Cordial will purify the blood and cleanse it of all scrofulous matter that is constantly breeding sores internal and external. Saltrheum, sore legs and all skin diseases are especially cured by Dr. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial; it is good to be applied internal and external in the above cases, as it has great power to heal where it comes in contact with the human flesh.

is a great remedy for chronic croup and diphtheria, which is sending thousands and thousands of children to a premature grave. It can be cured by Dr. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial.

Out of ten thousand cases where it has been tried in the past two years, it has never missed a case where it was taken in time. All families should have it on hand, as it gives instant relief in croup and diphtheria.

The Pine Tree Tar Cordial gives instantaneous relief in cases of asthma and whooping cough. It often cures whooping before it runs half its course, as it acts at once upon the phlegm and mucus, and expels them from the throat, and the sufferer is relieved. In case of asthma use Dr. Wishart's Dyspepsia Pills with the Cordial, as they have never been known to fail to cure that disease.

Beware counterfeits. The genuine has the name of the proprietor and a pine tree blown in the bottle. All others are spurious imitations. Price, $1 per bottle, or $8 per dozen.

RIFLED ORDNANCE.

A practical treatise on the application of the rifle to guns and mortars of every calibre, to which is added a new theory of the initial action and force of fired gunpowder. First American, from the fifth revised English edition. By LYNALL THOMAS, F. R. S. L. In one volume, octavo, with illustrations. Price $2.

"This volume is well got up, illustrated with engravings, diagrams, &c., and will be welcomed by the military profession as an important contribution to the science of gunnery. A discourse on the nature of the action of gunpowder, included in the work, embraces some important suggestions."—New-York Times.

"This is a new and revised edition of a very excellent work published for the same author several years since, and now published for the first time in this country. It is a perfectly practical treatise on the subject of rifled gunnery and will be found extremely useful to those who propose to make that science their study. At a time like the present, when all the arts of war are brought into requisition, a work of this kind forms a valuable addition to the practical literature of the times."—Philadelphia Daily News.

"This is a work which should be not only read but studied by all interested in the invention, manufacture and employment of rifled weapons and elongated projectiles. We think that whoever reads it will profit by it. Mr. Thomas' suggestions as to the manner of conducting experiments are excellent."—The Round Table.

A UNIVERSAL MEDICINE.—BY WHAT we eat, by the air we breathe, or by the water we drink we can be made sick; or by fatigue, or from debility induced by heat, because these effects end by producing impurity of blood. To regain health we must purify the blood, by the organs of the stomach and bowels; these organs must be continued in the regular performance of that duty which nature has assigned them and should there be any impediment, to what does experience point?

TO BRANDRETH'S PILLS,

which cannot injure, and which will surely restore the bowels to the regular performance of their duties.

The dyspeptic, the bilious will find them a treasure of health, and the same may be said to all who are sick in any way—take BRANDRETH'S PILLS and be cured.

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS,
FOR $2,000,000.
SUBSCRIPTION BOOKS OPENED WITH
Messrs. SCHUCHARDT & GEBHARD, Bankers,
No. 21 Nassau-st., New-York.

The Chicago and Great Eastern Railway Company now offer for sale one million one hundred thousand dollars of their first mortgage bonds, in sums of one thousand dollars each, maturing in thirty years, bearing interest at the rate of Seven per cent. per annum, payable in the City of New-York, on the first days of April and October, in each year.

These bonds are secured by a first and only Mortgage on the property, income and franchises of the Railway Company, executed to Frederick Schuchardt and Henry Morgan, of the City of New-York, Trustees.

The remaining nine hundred thousand dollars of the Bonds are set apart and remain in the hands of the said Trustees, for the purpose of being exchanged for the indebtedness of the Chicago and Cincinnati Railroad Company, running from La Crosse to Logansport; this effected, the $2,000,000 will form a First and only Mortgage on a line of road 110 miles in length, extending from Chicago to Logansport, where it connects with the Cincinnati and Chicago Air-line Railroad, forming the shortest line by 40 miles, between Chicago and Cincinnati, and by 36 miles the shortest line between Louisville and Chicago.

It will also open, in connection with roads now in operation, entirely new and very direct lines from Chicago to New-York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and all Eastern cities. The distance between Chicago and New-York by this route being shorter than by either of the existing lines via Dunkirk or Buffalo.

The road is now under contract, and the most strenuous efforts are being made to have it open for traffic during the Summer of 1864.

The interest on the Bonds maturing during the progress of the work has been provided for, and will remain on deposit with the Bankers of the Company, Messrs SCHUCHARDT & GEBHARD, No. 21 Nassau-st., to whom the Company refer for further particulars, and where subscription books for this loan have been opened.

TO THE WHOLESALE DRY GOODS MERCHANTS OF NEW-YORK.

METROPOLITAN FAIR.
NEW-YORK, Feb. 10, 1864.

The undersigned have been appointed a committee to represent the Wholesale Dry Goods Merchants in the Metropolitan Fair, to commence in this City on the 28th of March next. It will be held under the management of the Ladies of the City, who will be aided by an Advisory Committee of Gentlemen. Its object is to supply funds to the United States Sanitary Commission.

The services of this commission have been recognized throughout the entire army as in the highest degree beneficial. Every battle-field has been the witness of their noble, merciful and successful labors—imparting to the sick and wounded help, comfort and hope; and to those in arms, confidence and courage. All who are enabled to pursue their avocations in ease and safety at home cannot do less than provide for the sufferings of the brave soldiers who expose themselves to sickness, wounds and death, to maintain the unity and promote the welfare of their country.

Contributions for this purpose are requested in money or merchandise. If in money, it may be sent to either of the committee; if in merchandise, to the Receiving Depot, No. 2 Great Jones-st.

The magnitude of the wholesale dry goods interest—comprising the domestic and foreign commission houses, importers and jobbers—calls for a corresponding contribution to this object of benevolence and duty, such as will not only compare favorably with the results of fairs held successfully in other places, and with the contributions of other interests in the City, but also be esteemed worthy of the liberality and patriotism of the commercial Metropolis of the country.

COMMITTEE:

ALEX. T. STEWART, WILLIAM G. LAMBERT,
EDWARD S. JAFFRAY, JOHN M. DAVIES,
HENRY F. SPAULDING, JAMES M. CONSTABLE
GEORGE BLISS, THERON R. BUTLER,

METROPOLITAN FAIR FOR THE UNITED STATES SANITARY COMMISSION.—COMMITTEE ON WHOLESALE GROCERIES.—The members of the above committee have to announce to the importers of all descriptions of groceries, to the wholesale trade, and to all merchants connected with the receiving and selling of all merchandise coming under the classification of groceries, that they have completed all preliminary arrangements, and that the attestment of names for each member to call upon has been made.

It is confidently anticipated that the contributions through this committee, representing so large and wealthy a class of our citizens, will equal those made through any committee of the Metropolitan Fair.

The members of the committee will wait upon the merchants for their contributions within a few days, and the labors of the members will be greatly facilitated if gentlemen will take the subject into consideration at once, and be prepared to respond at the time of the call being made.

DEPARTMENT OF THE SOUTH.

Interesting Movement—An Expedition Toward Savannah—Movement up the St. Mary's River—Wreck of the Propeller Gen. Burnside—Three Colored Soldiers Hanged.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HILTON HEAD, Wednesday, Feb. 24, 1864.

Within the past few days a number of brilliant little affairs have occurred in the department, which, were it not for the blight caused by the disaster in Florida, would be looked upon with no slight degree of interest.

AN EXPEDITION TOWARD SAVANNAH.

On Sunday morning an expedition, consisting of the Eighty-fifth Pennsylvania, the Fourth New-Hampshire and a detachment of the Sixty-seventh Ohio Regiment, the whole under command of Col. HOWELL, commanding the brigade, left Hilton Head in the steamers Dictator, Mary Benton and one other transport, and the armed steamer Mayflower, and proceeded to Fort Pulaski, thence, toward night up the Savannah River to Wilmington Island, which is within five miles of Savannah. The expedition met with no opposition in passing up the river. Arrived at Wilmington Island, the troops disembarked, and one company of the Fourth New-Hampshire, under Capt. GREENLEAF, went forward to skirmish. When about a mile inland they met the enemy's skirmishers. A number of shots were exchanged, the effect of which was to kill and wound a number of the rebels, also four of our own men. The names of our wounded are Lieut. JOHN E. MITCHELL, Company D, wounded and taken prisoner; Lieut. N. B. REED, Co. H, slightly; Sergt. SPROWL, Co. K, knee; and Corp. BAILEY, Co. K—taken prisoners—all of the 85th Pennsylvania Regiment. We took 16 prisoners. The expedition left Wilmington Island Monday morning, and arrived at Hilton Head at about dark. The affair was brilliantly executed and reflects much credit upon those of our men who were engaged. The prisoners state that Gen. BEAUREGARD had been making extensive preparations to meet our forces in Florida. Gen. MERCER was assigned to take command of the troops in Florida.

AN EXPEDITION UP THE ST. MARY'S RIVER.

On Sunday, the 14th inst., 300 men of the 97th Pennsylvania Regiment crossed the river at Fernandina, and marched up the country, on the Florida side, to a place called King's Ferry, 45 miles from Fernandina. Monday morning an additional force of 200 men went up the river on steamer, having in view the same point of destination. The entire expedition was under command of Maj. T. B. BROOKS, of Gen. GILLMORE's Staff. Both the land and river forces arrived at King's Ferry Monday night. A few shells were fired by the gunboat Harriet A. Weed, but none of the enemy were seen on the way up. At the Ferry one prisoner was captured; also, 1,500,000 feet of prime lumber. As to the lumber, however, I believe the greater portion of it belonged to a widow named ALBERTY. She claims to be Union, and may possibly receive pay from the Government for her share of the lumber.

The expedition returned to Fernandina Monday. Nearly all of the lumber has been towed down to Fernandina.

On Sunday also, Major STEVENS, and the Second Battalion Massachusetts Cavalry, left Barber's and proceeded to King's Ninety-nine Ferry to act in concert with the troops that went up from Fernandina. Major STEVENS' column arrived one hour prior to the landing of Major BROOKS' force. They destroyed a ferry-boat and burnt one or two old buildings. The cavalry then returned to Barber's.

AN EXPEDITION TO GAINESVILLE.

Last week, Capt. MARSHALL, of the Fortieth Massachusetts Mounted Infantry, went, with his Company, to Gainesville, thirty miles at the left of Baldwin, on the Fernandina and Cedar Keys Railroad. At Gainesville our men met DICKENSON's Cavalry, who gave them a sharp fight. Capt. MARSHALL, to protect himself, formed a barricade of cotton bales. The whole of DICKENSON's force—90 men—surrounded the barricades, and commenced the fight in earnest. In one hour's time the enemy was obliged to scatter—leaving upon the field several killed and wounded, and over 40 horses. At Gainesville 450 bales of cotton and a large quantity of turpentine were captured.

WRECK OF THE PROPELLER GEN. BURNSIDE.

On Thursday night, during a fearful gale, the propeller Gen. Burnside, laden with commissary stores, went aground on the bar off St. John's River, while attempting to enter the channel. Every effort was made by Capt. WILCOX to save the vessel, but the shoeing became entangled with the propeller, and the Burnside drifted on the breakers. At low water she is dry on the beach. Her bottom is stove in, and no doubt is entertained of her destruction and loss. She carried three guns, all of which Capt. WILCOX got upon the beach and placed in position for defence, should the enemy molest him. More than half of the cargo, which consisted of pork, beef and hard bread will be saved. Saturday night, Capt. DUNTON, Chief Quartermaster at Jacksonville, sent down a gang of men to bring off the stores.

THREE COLORED SOLDIERS HUNG.

By order of Gen. SEYMOUR, three colored soldiers of Company B, Fifty-fifth Massachusetts Regiment, named LLOYD, COOK and SMITH, were hung last week, at short notice, for violating the person of a white woman who lived in the vicinity of Camp Finnigan. The men were allowed to hang 24 hours, as a lesson to others. WHIT.

Destruction of the Corvette Housatonic—Full Details of the Affair.

Correspondence of the Boston Herald.

UNITED STATES SHIP CANANDAIGUA, Thursday, Feb. 18, 1864.

It is with profound grief that I chronicle the loss of the United States corvette Housatonic [one of the blockading squadron off Charleston,] by an infernal torpedo machine. The event took place last evening, one of the coldest of the season. At 8½ o'clock, a long object, just on the edge of the water, was discovered astern of the ship. In an instant the cable was slipped, the alarm sounded, and all hands beat to quarters, but before the ship had made any headway, the torpedo exploded under her starboard quarter, making a most frightful report. The propeller was broken off, the stern was torn to pieces, and the ship sunk rapidly in less than eight minutes from the time the torpedo machine was first seen. The vessel sunk in six fathoms of water. As she began to sink, the most frightful scenes were witnessed. Men with nothing but their shirts on were seen struggling in the water, officers were trying to get the boats loose, while others were mounting the rigging. Three boats were finally unlashed, and these were sent to rescue those in the water. The gig at once started for the Canandaigua, carrying Capt. PICKERING, who was badly injured, but is now doing well.

As soon as Capt. GREENE, of the Canandaigua, got the news, he at once hoisted signals of distress, and came to our assistance, and in three hours after the attack on the Housatonic, all hands that were saved were safely transferred to that ship, where they received every attention. Subsequently, a portion of the survivors were transferred to the Wabash.

The Housatonic is a total loss. All hands lost all they possessed—money, clothes, &c. In fact, many of them, including some of the officers, went on board of the Canandaigua in a naked state. A sad accident of the disaster is the loss of Ensign Hazelton, of Concord, N. H.; Mr. MUZZEY, Captain's Clerk; John Williams, Quartermaster, and John Welsh, coal-heaver, of Boston, were drowned. The latter had got safely on deck, but ventured back to save $300, which he had in his bag on the berth-deck. Poor fellow, he never returned. THEO. PARKER (colored) who was on the lookout directly over where the ship was struck, was blown into the air and instantly killed. Capt. PICKERING was slightly injured by the explosion. JOHN GOFF, the Captain's steward, was somewhat injured. These were all the casualties. The officers and men of the ship displayed the greatest coolness during the trying scene, and thereby saved many lives. The Housatonic has been the especial spite of the rebels. Three times they have tried to destroy her, and now they have succeeded.

It is feared that many others of the vessels on the blockade will follow the fate of the Housatonic. It is well known that the rebels have six or eight more of these infernal machines ready to pounce upon the fleet. The masts of the Housatonic are all that can now be seen of her, and the gale which is now prevailing will do much to make a complete wreck of that once noble ship.

Ensign GOODALL has been very unfortunate. He was taken from the Housatonic and ordered to the ill-fated Weehawken, in the loss of which he lost all his effects. He was again ordered back to the Housatonic, and now, for the second time, has lost all.

Ensign HAZELTINE got into the second boat, and had he remained in it would have been saved, but as the ship careened over he jumped on board. The last ever seen of him he was floating among the fragments of the wreck, a corpse.

First Lieut. HIGGINSON, of Boston, escaped from the state-room with nothing but his shirt and drawers on. The Surgeon's steward, and many others who were in bed, had barely time to escape in their night clothes.

It is a wonder that Capt. PICKERING was not instantly killed, as he was directly over where the explosion took place. He escaped, however, with some severe cuts and bruises, and will soon be well again.

At low tide the water is about six feet above the rail of the Housatonic. If the weather moderates, her guns and many valuable articles and the Paymaster's safe will be recovered. She cannot be raised, as her stern is completely blown off, clean to the ward room hatch. She was loaded down with coal and provisions, which will be a total loss. Many of the survivors had quite large sums of money laid away to send home by the next mail. The loss to them is severe.

Considerable excitement prevails here, and everything will be done to prevent the destruction of any more of the fleet.

Mr. WILSON, of Mass., (Union), called up the joint resolutions of thanks to reenlisted volunteers. Passed.

A MINORITY REPORT.

Mr. BUCKALEW, of Penn., (Dem.), from the Committee on Slavery and Freedmen, presented a minority report on the Fugitive Slave Law. Ordered to be printed.

A motion of Mr. POWELL, to print 10,000 extra copies of said report, was referred to the Printing Committee.

THE $200,000,000 FIVE-FORTY LOAN.

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of House bill No. 265, authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to borrow not exceeding two hundred million dollars during the current fiscal year, and to issue additional five-twenty bonds to provide for the excess of eleven millions.

Mr. POWELL, of Kentucky, (Dem.,) moved to strike out the second section. He said the persons who subscribed knew the limit of the $500,000,000 loan, and the Government was not bound to issue more than that amount. He thought the Government had better pay them back their money, because these bonds were really worth seven per cent.

Mr. SHERMAN, of Ohio, (Union,) explained that numerous banks scattered all over the country, from Maine to California, were agents for the sale of the loan and when it was nearly exhausted it was impossible to ascertain the exact amount that had been taken. The eleven million excess had been paid into the Treasury and expended. He thought it manifestly proper that the Government should authorize the eleven million of bonds to provide for this excess.

In reply to a question by Mr. HENDRICKS, Mr. SHERMAN said no loan had ever been negotiated by the Government on more economical terms than the five hundred million loan by JAY, COOKE & Co.

After a few explanations by Messrs. JOHNSON, FESSENDEN and CONNESS, the Senate refused to strike out the second section by the following vote:

YEAS—Messrs. Buckalew, Davis, Henderson, Hendricks, Howe, Lane of Kansas, Morgan, Powell, Saulsbury, Sumner and Wilson—11.

NAYS—Messrs. Anthony, Chandler, Carlile, Clark, Conness, Cowan, Dixon, Fessenden, Foster, Grimes, Harding, Harlan, Harris, Howard, Johnson, Lane of Indiana, Morrill, Pomeroy, Ramsey, Sherman, Sprague, Ten Eyck, Van Winkle Wade, Wilkinson, Willey and Wright.—27.

Mr. HENDRICKS, of Indiana, (Dem.,) moved to strike out the words "six," as the rate of interest on the two hundred million bonds and insert "five" in the first section. He thought if the maximum was inserted it would be difficult to get a loan.

Mr. FESSENDEN, of Maine, (Union,) thought it was unwise to say to the Secretary of the Treasury that he was not authorized to give the ordinary rate of interest in the market. He believed the Secretary was of the opinion that he could not obtain a loan for less than six per cent. He knew that if he could do so he would. No one had done more to keep down interest than the Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. HENDRICKS said if the banks of the country could use their money in loans at six per cent., payable in depreciated currency, why should the Secretary pay the equivalent of nine per cent. in paper in gold.

Mr. FESSENDEN asked if the Senator would not give the Secretary power to pay nine per cent.

Mr. HENDRICKS replied if the Secretary should say that he could not secure a loan for less than nine per cent. he was entitled to the respect and confidence of the country.

Mr. HARLAN, (Union,) of Iowa, charged that the party with which the gentleman (Mr. HENDRICKS) acted had in peace times voted one per cent. per month in gold.

Mr. HENDRICKS did not intend to be drawn into a political discussion. His object was that the Government might get money as cheap as possible. Did the Senator know of an instance where money had been obtained at a less rate than the maximum rates mentioned in the acts creating a loan?

Mr. FESSENDEN said he did not.

Mr. HENDRICKS said as soon as the maximum was fixed, it became the rule of the country and of the department that that should be the rate. Our debt was growing at an enormous rate, and we should consider well whether we could not secure money at a less rate.

Mr. FESSENDEN said the language of the gentleman amounted to this: that he would not allow the Government to borrow money at more than five per cent. Was the Senate prepared to say that?

Mr. HENDRICKS believed the money could be obtained for five per cent. Confidence in the success of military operations had much to do with this subject.

The amendment was rejected.

Mr. MORGAN introduced an additional section in place of the second, providing that the Secretary of the Treasury issue bonds to the amount of eleven millions, and sell them in the open market at the highest rates to satisfy the excess in the loan of five hundred millions. Rejected.

Mr. DAVIS, of Kentucky, (Democrat,) renewed the motion of Mr. HENDRICKS to strike out "six" and insert "five."

Mr. DAVIS thought that at this maximum rate of six per cent. monied men would combine against the Treasury, and force the Secretary to come up to their standard.

The amendment was rejected by the following vote:

YEAS—Messrs. Buckalew, Davis, Hendricks, Powell, Saulsbury, Wright—6.

NAYS—Messrs. Anthony, Chandler, Clark, Conness, Cowan, Dixon, Doolittle, Fessenden, Foster, Grimes, Harding, Harlan, Harris, Henderson, Howard, Howe, Johnson, Lane of Kansas, Morgan, Nesmith, Pomeroy, Ramsay, Sherman, Sprague, Sumner, Ten Eyck, Van Winkle, Wade, Willey, Wilson, Wilkinson—31.

Mr. ANTHONY, of Rhode Island, (Union,) moved an amendment requiring the principal of the bonds to be paid in coin. Adopted.

THE REVENUE BILL.

Mr. SHERMAN, from the Committee of Conference upon the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the Revenue Bill, presented a report from the Senate Committee, announcing a disagreement.

On his motion, the Senate insisted on its amendment, and agreed to submit the measure again to the House for final action.

THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD.

On motion of Mr. HOWARD, a resolution was adopted, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury to furnish copies of the reports of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, or any other mentioned in the 20th section of the Pacific resolution, requesting the President to inform the Senate if he has fixed the points of the commencement of the Union Pacific Railroad, or its branches, at the Eastern terminus.

At 2:45 the Senate went into executive session, and soon adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, March 1.

COD FISHERIES.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, (Union,) caused to be read a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, saying that it is ascertained from authentic sources that many vessels employed in the cod fishery, obtained salt to cure their fish from the British Provinces, thereby avoiding the payment of the duty on salt incorporated with their fish, and claiming bounties the same as if they had procured salt which had paid a duty in our own ports. To prevent this, there appeared to be no provision of law. Therefore, the Secretary requested that an act be passed to the effect that hereafter no fishing bounties be allowed unless the claimants satisfactorily show that the salt which they have used has paid duty to the United States.

Objection was made to the introduction of such a bill.

SALT DUTIES.

On motion of Mr. DRIGGS, of Michigan, (Union,) the Committee of Ways and Means were instructed to inquire into the justice and expediency of levying ten cents per bushel on salt imported into the United States.

UNITED STATES TRANSFER OFFICE IN NEW-YORK.

FREEMAN CLARKE, of New York, (Union,) offered the following resolution, which was passed:

Resolved, That the Committee of Ways and Means be instructed to inquire into the expediency of establishing a transfer office in the City of New-York, under the direction of the Assistant Treasurer of the United States in that City, for the transfer of Government bonds; and also as to the expediency of authorizing the exchange of coupon and registered bonds, one for the other, as holders may desire, and report by bill or otherwise.

FINAL ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS.

Mr. BRANDAGEE, of Connecticut, (Union,) offered a resolution, that the Senate concurring, both Houses adjourn on the 30th of April next.

Mr. STEVENS, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) suggested the 31st of May next.

Mr. BRANDAGEE accepted the modification, remarking that he desired to fix a time in order that Congress may work up to it.

Mr. HOLMAN, of Indiana, (Dem.), said that extraordinary attempts were made to prevent discussion, and being unwilling to encourage the continuation of such practice, he moved to lay the resolution on the table.

This was disagreed to, and the resolution was passed, yeas, 93; nays not counted.

PAY OF DECEASED SOLDIERS.

On motion of Mr. FENTON, of New-York, (Union,) it was resolved that the Committee on Military Affairs be requested to ascertain what legislation is necessary to authorize and require the payment of the certificates issued by the Second Auditor and Second Comptroller of the Treasury for arrears of pay and bounty due deceased soldiers, on presentation thereof to any Paymaster of the army in Washington, as well as in the district where the claimant resides.

FREEDMEN'S AFFAIRS.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill to establish a Bureau for Freedmen's Affairs, when

Mr. KNAPP, of Illinois, (Dem.,) expressed his views against the measure, arguing that such a system of vassalage and tutelage as proposed never entered into the brain of any sensible man. If the bill was based on charity, why not support the widows and orphans of those who have laid down their lives in the defence of what gentlemen on the Republican side call "free institutions?"

Mr. PRICE, of Iowa, (Union,) advocated the bill on the ground that it merely proposed to direct into the proper channel the physical energies of those whom the fortunes of war have made free. He foresaw great benefits to result from such a bureau, rather than the evils which its enemies predicted.

THE WHISKY TAX.

Mr. PENDLETON, of Ohio, (Dem.,) commenced his remarks against the bill, but was interrupted by a message from the Senate, stating that the Committee of Conference on the Whisky Bill had been unable to agree.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, (Union,) without referring to what occurred in the committee, was free to say he did not think the committee would have any difficulty in coming to an agreement on the subject. The gentleman from Pennsylvania (DAWSON) was of opinion that, in order to adjust the difference between the two Houses, a tax of 20 cents might be laid upon stock spirits on hand. This was the material point of the controversy.

Mr. STEVENS, of Pennsylvania, (Union,) said his colleague (DAWSON,) who was on the Committee, did not represent the majority of the House.

Mr. WASHBURNE replied that he believed Mr. DAWSON voted with the gentleman (STEVENS) in the House against taxing stock on hand. It was insisted by a part of the Committee of Conference that the House had decided against any tax on spirits on hand, while the others insisted that the House had only decided against forty cents a gallon. In order to test the strength of the House, Mr. WASHBURNE offered a resolution, that the House insist on its disagreement to the Senate amendments, and request of the Senate another conference, and it is hereby declared as the judgment of the House, that in the adjustment of the differences there should be an additional tax of not less than twenty nor more than forty cents per gallon upon spirits on hand for sale.

Mr. STEVENS raised the point that the Committee of Conference could report the fact of disagreement and nothing more.

The Speaker held that while a committee must report the fact, the House had power to instruct any committee to be appointed.

Mr. STEVENS earnestly said the gentleman offered his instructions as an individual member.

Mr. WASHBURNE hoped the gentleman would not get excited.

Mr. STEVENS—Not at all.

Mr. PENDLETON moved that the House recede from its disagreement to the Senate's amendment.

Mr. WASHBURNE said if this motion prevail, there will be no tax on spirits on hand.

Mr. PENDLETON—That is so.

Mr. WASHBURNE said if his own notion prevail, then the Committee on Conference can adjust their difference by taxing spirits on hand. Mr. W. moved and the House seconded the demand for the previous question.

Mr. PENDLETON's motion was disagreed to—53 against 28.

Mr. WASHBURNE's amendment was then adopted—yeas 76, nays 67, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Alley, Allison, Ames, Anderson, Arnold, Baldwin of Michigan, Baldwin of Massachusetts, Beaman, Blair of West Virginia, Boutwell, Boyd, Brandage, Brown of Wisconsin, Brown of West Virginia, A. W. FREEDMEN'S AFFAIRS AGAIN.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill to establish a bureau for Freedmen's Affairs.

Mr. PENDLETON, of Ohio, (Dem.) finished his remarks against it for want of constitutional power and other considerations.

Mr. WADSWORTH, of Kentucky, (Dem.,) expressed his views against the bill, saying that it proposed interference in the loyal Slave States.

Mr. ELIOT, of Massachusetts, (Union,) referred to the amended bill to show that this was not the case, and said that as the freedmen had yielded some time to-day to the whisky subject, he would now move the previous question, which was seconded.

Mr. MALLORY moved to lay the bill on the table, which was disagreed to—yeas 62, nays 68.

The bill to establish a Bureau for Freedmen's Affairs was then passed—yeas 69, nays 67, as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Alley, Allison, Ames, Anderson, Arnold, Baldwin of Massachusetts, Baxter, Beaman, Blow, Boutwell, Boyd, Brandegee, A. W. Clark, Cobb, Cole, Creswell, Dawes, Dixon, Donnelly, Driggs, Dumont, Eckley, Eliot, Farnsworth, Fenton, Frank, Garfield, Grinnell, Higby, Hooper, Hotchkiss, Hubbard of Iowa, Hubbard of Connecticut, Jenckes, Julian, Kasson, Kelley, Kellogg of Michigan, Kellogg of New-York, Longyear, Lovejoy, Marvin, McClurg, McIndoe, Miller of New-York, Moorhead, Morrell, Morris, Amos Myers, Norton, O'Neill of Pennsylvania, Perham, Pike, Pomeroy, Price, Rice of Massachusetts, Rice of Maine, Schenck, Shannon, Sloan, Smithers, Stevens, Thayer, Van Valkenburgh, Washburn of Massachusetts, Wilder, Wilson, Windom, Woodbridge.

At half-past four o'clock the House adjourned.

THE ALABAMA.

The Pirate at Calcutta—The Ship Emma Jane Burned.

The London Shipping Gazette of Feb. 16 has the following dispatch:

BOMBAY, Friday, Jan. 29.

The Confederate steamer Alabama is off the west coast of India. She has burned the ship Emma, of New-York.

[This is probably the Emma Jane, of Bath, which sailed from Bombay Jan. 5, for Amherst, or possibly the Esmeralda, of New-York, from Calcutta Jan. 9, for Bombay.]

Reports from Boston.

BOSTON, Tuesday, March 1.

The following is an extract from a recent letter written by an American shipmaster, dated Singapore, Jan. 3:

The Alabama came here last week, coaled and steamed into Malacca Straits; I think she will go round Sumatra into Sunda Straits again, up the China Sea and over to California coast if not captured. She has 111 men on board, all discontented. There are many deserters here, notwithstanding the watch of officers with loaded revolvers. There are about six Southern men on board, and the carpenter is a Massachusetts man. She has completely stopped American commerce in the East. Our vessels are lying up in all the ports, and some are being sold at moderate prices.

FROM PORT ROYAL.—The United States steam transport Webster, Capt. DEERING, from Port Royal, and twenty-five hours from Fortress Monroe, with forty-one soldiers (veterans) of the One Hundredth New-York Regiment, to United States Assistant-Quartermaster, arrived yesterday morning. She passed, off Cape Fear, the steamship Arago, bound south, with a schooner in tow.

TWENTIETH REGIMENT U. S. COLORED TROOPS.—This regiment, commanded by Col. N. B. BERTRAM, will leave Riker's Island on Saturday for New-Orleans, there to report to Maj.-Gen. BANKS, commanding the Department of the Gulf. Previous to leaving, the regiment will make a parade down Broadway. It is composed of a strong and hearty set of men, and will doubtless make a fine appearance.

THIRTY-SEVENTH REGIMENT NATIONAL GUARD.—The members of the Thirty-seventh Regiment National Guard will assemble at their armory this morning, at 10½ o'clock, for the purpose of uniting with the Mayor and Common Council in receiving Gen. LEDLIE's veteran brigade, just returned from the seat of war.

CUSTOM HOUSE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.—The Congressional Committee was in session yesterday at No. 74 Wall-street, with closed doors. The proceedings will not be made public during the session.

DEAFNESS
NOISES IN THE HEAD,
Diseases of the Eye, Ear & Throat,
CATARRH CURED
BY
DR. VON EISENBERG,
AT HIS CONSULTING ROOMS,

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH.

No. 23 FORSYTH-ST., NEW-YORK, Oct. 1, 1863.

Dr. Von Eisenberg:

DEAR SIR: Without recapitulating the numerous benefits I have received through your wonderful cure of the deafness I have labored under many years, the blessings I enjoy will convince the most skeptical.

I have tried many aurists, in Europe and America, without success. I was still deaf as a post.

Three years ago I entered your office, underwent one operation, hoping, yet doubting, I should receive any relief, but was agreeably disappointed in finding the genius of your profession.

The innate skill you possess cured my deafness in one almost painless operation.

The joy I experienced was indescribable; 'twas a new life to me.

My hearing is perfect to this day.

I strongly advise all who are suffering under a difficulty of hearing, or total deafness, to consult you immediately, as I also personally recommend all who apply to me. The numerous calls trespass on my time and patience, yet, remembering my own long, weary affliction causes me to pity them.

This is not written to advertise your well-known, unrivaled reputation—that would be peurile; but as a measure of precaution, to induce all to call on you at once, without troubling me; yet I do not refuse to see any one who comes to me. This is the only way I can show my gratitude.

I also call the attention of those who are suffering from Catarrh, which disease I have labored under one year or more.

I experienced difficulty in breathing, langour, heaviness over the eyes, a sense of tightness on the brain, and copious expectorations of a hard and viscid nature. Accompanying this is a "polypus," quite filling the right nostril. On the 25th ult. you operated on both, killing the polypus, which is gradually passing away, and giving me great relief from the Catarrh. One more operation will effectually cure.

This testimonial brings with it my unalloyed and grateful thanks, with but a poor delineation of your wondrous skill as an Aurist.

I am, Sir, yours very gratefully,
EDWARD TEMPLE HARRISON.

It has been from time immemorial the object of philanthropists to find some remedy for the ills of life, and scientific skill has for ages explored every avenue in order to discover the hidden secret. It has been, however, reserved for modern science to bring before the world the great destroyer of disease, and in HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS are concentrated all those virtues which tend to promote healthy and vigorous life. Unlike the generality of bitters, they are not an alcoholic mixture, but a pure tonic, composed entirely of vegetable substances. They are a positive cure for

The reputation of this preparation is not of a day, nor a month, nor a year, nor is it confined within a limited space, nor is it but known and appreciated by those who move in the circle of fashion and refinement. It is, on the contrary, world wide, and the triumphs of this article have blessed alike the rich and the poor, while like the snow that falls gently on the earth, so this friend of mankind causes its blessing to descend upon the suffering and afflicted. Its virtues are known in every quarter of the inhabitable globe, and the wonderful cures which it is daily performing have won for it the highest post in the temple of science. With such recommendations, backed by incontestible and undoubted testimonials from those who have experienced its curative properties, giving to the public no assertion but what has passed through the crucible of truth, and supported by an array of splendid and hitherto unknown triumphs, what wonder is it that thousands rush to it for relief in the hour of danger.

NEW-YORK TESTIMONY.

From John B. Wickersham, Esq., firm of Wickersham & Hutchison, the celebrated manufacturers of fancy iron works, No. 259 Canal-st.:

* * * * *

I am the recipient from you of one of the greatest favors that can be conferred upon man, viz: That of health. For many years have I suffered from one of the most annoying and debilitating complaints that the human family can be afflicted with, Chronic Diarrhœa.

During the long time I was suffering from this disease I was attended by regular physicians, giving me but temporary relief. The cause seemed to remain until I was induced to try Hoofland's German Bitters. After the use of a few bottles of that valuable medicine, the complaint appeared to be completely eradicated.

I often inwardly thank you for such a valuable specific, and, whenever I have an opportunity, cheerfully recommend it, with full confidence in its reliability.

Truly, yours, JOHN B. WICKERSHAM.

From Julius Lee, Esq., firm of Lee & Walker, the most extensive Music Publishers in the United States, No. 722 Chesnut-st., Philadelphia:

FEBRUARY 8, 1864.

MESSRS. JONES & EVANS—GENTLEMEN: My mother-in-law has been so greatly benefited by your Hoofland's German Bitters that I concluded to try it myself. I find it to be an invaluable tonic, and unhesitatingly recommend it to all who are suffering from dyspepsia. I have had that disease in its most obstinate form—flatulence—for many years, and your Bitters has given me ease when everything else has failed. Yours truly, JULIUS LEE.

From that well known citizen, the

HON. JACOB BROOM:

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 7, 1863.

GENTLEMEN: In reply to your inquiry as to the effect produced by the use of "Hoofland's German Bitters" in my family, I have no hesitation whatever in saying that it has been highly beneficial. In one instance, a case of dyspepsia, of about thirteen years' standing, and which had become very distressing, the use of one bottle gave decided relief, the second effecting a cure, and the third, it seems, has confirmed the cure, for there has been no symptoms of its return for the last six years. In my individual use of it, I find it to be an unequaled tonic, and sincerely recommend its use to the sufferers.

Truly yours, JACOB BROOM, No. 1,707 Spruce-st.

The following well-known reverend gentlemen have acknowledged in writing the great benefits they have received from the use of these Bitters. Such testimony must certainly convince the most sceptical:

Rev. Levi G. Beck, Pastor of the Baptist Church, Pemberton, N. J., formerly of the North Baptist Church, Philadelphia.
